A NEW ROAD LAW.

Provides for Election of Practical Road Supervisors.

The bill introducted by Senator John H. Brown, of Westmoreland county, for the improvement and maintenance of state roads is considered one of the best ever introduced. Senator Brown has introduced two bills in this legislature for road improvements.

The first provides for the appropriation of $1,000,000 annually to aid counties in road making. His second bill, however, is the one which is being commented on most favorably, and some of its leading provisions follow:

It provides that at the election of next November, and every three years there after each county shall elect a road supervisor who has a special and scientific knowledge of road making. A supervisor bond is to be $1,000, and county surveyors are made eligible as supervisors. The county supervisors shall give certificates to applicants as township supervisors after examination.

Each township supervisor shall give a $5,000 bond and shall receive $2 a day for a term of three years. Township supervisors shall be elected at the same time as county supervisors, and all candidates must hold a certificate as road supervisor from the county supervisors. The township supervisors are to meet annually in each county on the first Monday in March and each county convention shall have charge of the roads of the respective county.

The president of the convention and the secretary shall take oath for the faithful performance of their duties. The convention by a majority vote may frame laws and ordinances for the regulation of the roads in their respective counties, provide penalties and remove road officials guilty of neg ecting their duties. The convention shall have power to fix the salary for the county supervisor for three years, or his salary per day for given a number of days' service; to fix the rate wages and hours of road laborers and approve plans for road convention shall not have power to lay out a new road or to vacate any road except by petition to the court of quarter sessions, as now provided.

All conventions shall especially provide that American citizens and tax payers shall have the preference in being employed or in furnishing teams or material for roads. The conventions shall levy a road tax on all property in the several townships, the tax not to exceed eight mills on $1 annually; this tax to be collected as are other taxes at present. Property owners may acquire the right from the township supervisors to improve the road passing their property.

The township supervisor shall view the road and after the work has been done under his supervision he shall issue to the applicant a warrant for the amount of his road tax, the amount of the warrant not to exceed the amount of the tax. All supervisors shall take oath and vacancies shall be filled as in the case of other county officers.

The Sherman Bond Bill.

More revenue is the first need of the government. It is criminal for any party to leave the Treasury with too little revenue for its expenses. No Congress has permitted this before while in session since the government was founded. To meet a deficiency thus created by a free sale of bonds opens the door to boundless extravagance.

But if a bond bill must be passed because an inefficient Democratic majority will do nothing else, Senator Sherman's bond bill is the best yet proposed. It provides a low rate short-time bond. This is one advantage. A still greater advantage is the proposal to issue 3 per cent. coupon notes of $25, $50 and $100. These are certain to be popular. They automatically convert demand notes into an interest-bearing obligation. They will be hoarded, reducing a redundant currency. They will come due when the Treasury will be better able to meet them.

Like most of Senator Sherman's proposals, this bill is practically adroit and considers not merely what is best, but what can be passed. Lastly the proposal to expand bank issues of currency to the par value of bonds deposited for currency is a wise step. Take it all in all, while the revenue must be increased, Senator Sherman's bill meets the current needs better than any other.

Days of Grace.

A bill has been introduced in the Pennsylvania legislature abolishing "days of grace." In discussing this bill the other evening some Tyrone gentlemen were speculating as to how the peculiar institution originated. It is a survival of olden times. Then communication often made difficult and uncertain by reason of foot pads, bad roads, and lack of facilities, compelled debtors to demand and receive some latitude as to time in meeting their obligations, which discretionary period came to be called "days of grace." Now a promise to pay at any particular time only means three days after that time. There is no advantage in it, since if thirty-three days suits both parties as well or better than thirty days, it might as well be put down thirty-three days on the note and make the obligation read just what is meant and not something different.

A custom which perverts the language when uniformly recognized and generally understood does no particular harm. Reformers who desire to have language its own exponent have, however, succeeded in getting days of grace abolished in California, Oregon, Vermont, Wisconsin, and in New York. This imposes on bankers the necessity of keeping in mind in what states the expression thirty days means thirty-three. It is a burden and a nuisance, and the bankers are almost of one mind in favor of abolishing days of grace everywhere.

The organization formed to procure uniform legislation in all the States favors this reform also. Merchants do not object to it and common sense approves it. The reason for days of grace no longer exists, and with their abolition in the financial centre of the country it will be only a matter of time until all the states give them up.

Interesting State Notes.

Families in the villages of Northampton county are greatly afflicted with measles.

Scranton now claims to be one of the cleanest and healthiest inland cities of the state.

Mercer borough schools have been closed on account of an epidemic of scarlet fever.

The Allentown Leader says there will be no change in the managements of the Lehigh Valley railroad.

Allentown will erect a new city hall in the near future, which will be at once an ornament and accommodation to that locality.

The fund sent in by lodges of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows throughout the state for the benefit of the Odd Fellows' home, now aggregates nearly $70,000.

Williamsport's financial crisis has passed, now that its bonds for a new loan have been legally signed by the proper officers. The real crisis will occur when these bonds mature for payment.

It is a singular fact that there is more or less trouble between the mayors and burgesses and councilmanic bodies of cities and boroughs of the state, the result of jealousy on the division of patronage.

Considerable numbers of people, mostly farmers, are preparing to leave the Lebanon valleo in April next, to seek new homes in the west. Dakota is the destination of many of these adventurers.

All the towns along the Susquehanna river from its mouth to Marietta, in Lancaster county, are not so apprehensive of a flood as they were a week ago, because the river is now open along that portion of it.

Delegates from the different parts of the state who visited Harrisburg this week, speak in glowing terms of the accommodations and elegance of the hotels and hospitality generally of the people of the state capital.

New telephone companies as competitors of old organizations, which never had opposition, are easily made a success in cities of the state, because the old concerns had become unpopular by sheer neglect of what was a good business.

The expense of cleaning cities which are affected by floods in the Susquehanna river was again very large last year and fell with crushing weight on taxpayers. This is an item for which there can be no correct estimate made of what may be needed.

A new wage scale of the Amalgamated association was made last Tuesday and will go into effect in Pennsylvania and other states as soon as it can be promulgated. The workingmen of Allegheny county had a controlling influence in perfecting the scale.

Convention of Manufacturers.

Cincinnati, O. Jan 22—The manufacturers' convention composed of the leading manufacturers of the United States, began in this city this morning. Three hundred visitors registered, many of them from the east, but with all sections well represented. This is a far better attendance than had been expected. Everything indicates that the meeting will be of much benefit to the business interests of the country, and is the beginning of a national organization that will wield great influence in all lines of trade.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, Jan. 21, 1895.

From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Congressional indignation over the news of the blood shed in Hawaii has for the time overshadowed the flounde ring of the democrats in their futile attempts to get up some sort of financial bill, and will probably continue to do so for a few days. The tardy action of the administration in ordering the Philadelphia to proceed to Honolulu, which was virtually forced by the angry protests of democratic Senators and Representatives, is accepted as a tacit acknowledgement of the blunder made in not keeping a warship there for months past, but it is an acknowledgement not creditable to the administration from any point of view. Among the democrats who have not hesitated to criticise the course of the administration are Representatives Livingston, of Georgia, who says that he thinks it the duty of this government to take charge of Hawaii, either by annexation or by the establishment of a protectorate, and Sickles, of New York, who said: "It is mortifying that American interests in Hawaii were left unprotected. We should not have been without a vessel there. The news must have interrupted sleep at the White House. I imagine it may have caused more uneasiness there than in Hawaii."

Senator Lodge said: "The deplorable news from Hawaii emphasizes the wisdom of Rear Admiral Walker's recommendations for keeping a man-of-war at Honolulu. Had a vessel been there, as he advised, the revolt would not have occurred, or at least there would have been no blood shed. The responsibility for the loss of life must, therefore, rest with the administration. It had ample warning of what has taken place. "Other Senators and Representatives, not all of them republicans, either, privately expressed similar sentiments. Although it is not certain it would surprise no one if the House and Senate should adopt one of the resolutions, introduced in both Senate and House, expressing the sense of Congress that one or more vessels should be constantly kept in the harbor of Honolulu, or one of a similar nature.

Another dearly cherished democratic scheme to break down an American industry is practically dead. This is the free ship bill, which started out with such a rush. Representative Fithian, of Ill., author of the measure, recognizing the impossibility of passing the bill in its original shape, is now trying to get pledges for a bill granting free entry to foreign built ships only on condition that those who bring them in shall construct vessels of the same tonnage in the United States. In other words a copy of the bill under which the American steamship line was granted. American registers for the foreign built vessels New York and Paris.

In addition to the large number of American lawyers and financiers in Washington for the purpose of trying to have a say in the proposed legislation dealing with the Pacific Railroad, Sir Charles Wilson, an English financier, has arrived to look out for the English money invested in those roads. The impression is growing that this is another important question that will be left unacted upon.

Senator Burrows, of Mich., to-day began his Senatorial career, and no man ever started in with more good wishes than he. Although one of the strongest partisans on all political questions who ever sat in the House, Mr. Burrows has always been highly esteemed personally by his political opponents. That his career in the Senate will be quite as marked as the one he made in the House is your correspondent's prediction.

Representative-elect Hufl, of Pa., who is a successful business man, is in Washington looking over the ground of his future labors. He says: "The country is sick and tired of agitation and ought to be given a rest. The President may choose to call an extra session, but I should think it very undesirable from a democratic standpoint, as it is inimical to the business interests of the country. Senator Sherman has advanced a good plan of relief and I do not see why the democratic majority should not act along the lines of his measure if they really want to enact some currency legislation."

It will be a long time before Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky, hears the last of his ridiculous and silly statement, that the city of Walla Walla, Washington, was not on a railroad. It was one of the most glaring displays of ignorance ever made on the floor of a Senate, and it will be strange indeed, if those who oppose Blackburn's re-election to the Senate do not make good use of it in the legislative campaign in Kentucky this year.

Some of the members of the House committee on the Judiciary having become ashamed of the undue haste with which that committee ordered the preparation and presentation of an impeachment resolution against Judge Ricks, of Ohio, the committee has reconsidered its action, in order to give Judge Ricks a hearing, and no one will be surprised if the committee finally votes against impeachment.

The Reward of Collecting Bibles.

From the New York Press.

Here is a true story, which proves the value of collecting Bibles. One of the bartenders in the old New York Hotel had a passion for the accumulation of the old Bibles used by the house, and when it was torn down and the bartender was forced to seek another centre of dispensation he carried his Bibles with him. Now, it befell that late one night, in the year 1862, a young woman was married in the New York Hotel, and the fact was registered in a Bible on a table in the drawing room. Soon afterward the husband died and her claim to certain properties was contested by reason of doubt as to the validity of her marriage. For some reason or other it was necessary to produce this Bible. By an accident she heard of the bartending bibliophile and hunted him up. Among his collection, in fact was the Bible in which the date of her marriage had been registered. That was only a year ago and day before yesterday a handsomely appointed carriage drove up in front of the cafe where the Bible collector worked, from which descended the now opulent and successful heiress. She came to thank the Bible collector and left behind her a package containing fifteen one hundred dollar bills. This is a true story, and I trust its recital will lead others besides bar tenders to collect bibles.

If the two hands be dipped in two basins of water at the same temperature, the left hand will fee the greater sensation of warmth; nay it will do this even when thermometors show that the water in the left basin is really somewhat colder than the right basin. With left-handed persons the reverse would be found.

The Goose—By a Small Boy.

The goose is a grass animal, but don't chew no cud.

They are good livers—about one aker to a goose is enough.

But I don't think if I had a farm of 175 akers, awl paid for, that I would sell it for what it is worth just because I didn't have one goose on it.

Votes Lost for White.

Indiana, Pa., Jan. 22.—The judges hearing the Blair-White contest resumed the case to-day. The court room was densely packed. Witnesses from Cherry Hill, Greene and Grant townships testified to having received pay ranging from a drink of whiskey and a 25 cent dinner to $20 for changing their vote from Blair to White. The estimated number of voters lost to White by the testimony today is upwards of twenty. The friends of Judge White claim they will be able to establish equally damaging facts against the Blair people.

THE state Board of Health recommends communities adjacent to or liable to constant intercommunication with Philadelphia to take precautionary measures against the spead of small-pox, and advises all heads of families to resort promptly to vaccination and revaccination. The State Board also declares that the energetic measures employed by the Philadelphia Board of Health, in providing for and urging general vaccination, and enforcing the rigid isolation of small-pox cases, will if seconded by the intelligent and ready co-operation of citizens, prevent the disease from becoming epidemic.

THEY are having a hard time of it in Brooklyn on account of the strike on the trolley lines, chiefly because the authorities do not perform their duty. Our police commissioner thinks the companies should not try to run so many cars. Why not? It is their duty to operate their lines and clearly a violation of law for strikers to interfere with them in any way. All that the Police Commissioners and police are required to do is to arrest every man who engages in violence or incites to breach of the peace. If they cannot do that they must confess themselves incapable of performing the primary duty of government.

AT last it has been made known that the death of Emin Pasha was due solely to the pride of a petty chieftain, who wished to show his more powerful neighbors that he was not afraid to take the life of a white man. The first detailed account of the murder of perhaps the most picturesque figure among explorers is written for the Febuary Century by R. Dorsey Mohun, U. S. agent in the Congo Free State. Mr. Mohun's sergeant, who was a member of Stanley's Emin Relief Expedition, discovered two of the assassins. Mr. Mohun arrested them, and very ingeniously extracted a full confession, which he has given in their own graphic language. Both were hung just a year after they cut off Emin's head.

Opposed to the Tax.

The building and loan associations, of which there are over 1,000 in this state, will make a vigorous fight against the passage of the new revenue bill prepared by the state tax conference which levies a tax of one mill on the capital stock of these concerns. Local associations all over the state have organized to oppose this feature of the proposed act and the indications are that they will be successful. The building and loan association league of Pennsylvania has petitioned the legislature to eliminate this objectionable clause.

THE January issue of TABLE TALK, that bright little magazine published in Philadelphia, for housekeepers and now entering its tenth year, is again before us and while, as usual the dining-room and kitchen are brought prominently to the front the literary part of the magazine is exceptionly good touching upon the new year. "A Breakfast with the Autocrat," "Fashion's Horoscope for 1895," "A pretty story of Napoleon and the all popular Violet," "The Life Line," (in which the pathetic story of "Captain Jim" of the Life Saving Station is made illustrative of the importance of understanding and using the life-lines thrown out to each and every one of us,) and so on. A chapter on Dietetics is a new and valuable addition to the subject matter of the magazine and will appear every month during 1895.

The Lexow Report.

The Lexow committee, which investigated the Police Department of New York during the past year and unearthed a state of rottenness at which the community stood appalled, has just made its report to the Legislature at Albany. The summary of facts revealed by the investigation and embodied in the report is news to nobody. The startling details of police partnership with vice and blackmail upon legitimate business were published and read during the sittings of the committee, and the report is of present interest only in connection with recommendations which the committee make as to legislation against a continuance of police profligacy.

The first effect of the revelations of the committee was a revolution at the polls, driving from power the Tammany organization, under whose protection the police had snared the profits of vice and plundered legitimate business. It remains to be seen whether the New York Legislature, which seems to be under the absolute control of Thomas C. Platt, will pass laws that will tear up the evil by the roots or whether under the leadership of a Republican boss some purely partisan legislation designed solely for the benefit of a new set of office-holders will be enacted. It must be confessed that the bill recommended by the committee constituting a bi-partisan police board does not promise any radical reform of police abuses in New York.

The one thing that grew out of the Lexow revelations that was thoroughly commendable was the non-partisan action of thousands of New York Democrats in voting for an honest Republican for Mayor in order to overthrow the corrupt Tammany organization under which police partnership with vice grew and prospered, The lesson to Philadelphia Republicans who are tired of boss rule in their own party and leaky reservoirs and other results of partisan profligacy is that of the duty of voting for an honest Democrat for Mayor as the sure and only means of putting an end to Philadelphia's Tammany.

A Lexow committee to investigate Philadelphia corruption is an impossibility under existing conditions, for the political influences responsible for the corruption would control the investigating committees. The sure way to get an investigation that will investigate is for the honest Republicans of Philadelphia to do what the honest Democrats of New York did—cast partisanship to the winds and vote for a man whose public record is a sufficient guarantee of a thoroughly honest adminis tration of the office.

Foster's Weather Bulletin.

My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from 19th to 23d, and the next will reach the Pacific coast about the 24th, cross the western mountain country by close of 25th, the great central valleys from 26th to 28th, and the eastern states about the 29th. This will be an ugly winter storm, and will be followed by a severe cold wave or blizzard. The warm wave will cross the western mountain country about the 24th, the great central valleys 26th, and the eastern states 28th. The cold wave will cross the western mountain country about the 27th, the great central valleys 29th, and the eastern states 30th. Indications are favorable to an extended drought in April and May, probably o greatest extent in the northern states. I will give a long range forecast of this in my first February bulletin. This will be of great importance to farmers, and before giving a complete forecast the calculations will be carefully compiled. A drought at that time would not very seriously damage the northern states, but in some sections of the south it would be ruinous.

PATTISON THEIR CHOICE.

Nominated for the Philadelphia Mayoralty.

By United Press.

Philadelphia, Jan. 16.—The Democratic Mayoralty Convention in Warner's hall to day was a most turbulent gathering. It was called to order by Temporary Chairman David B. Sellers at 10.12 a. m., and it took an hour to elect William F. Belstering, who represents the regular Democrats, as permanent chairman over William J. Ryan, who is allied with the "Pennsylvania Democracy." The vote was: Belstering, 684; Ryan, 213. The delegates were in a perfect turmoil from start to finish.

At 12.20 p. m. ex-Governor Robert E. Pattison was nominated for Mayor by a vote of 828 to 79 over Colonel Charles H. Banes. Ex-Governor Pattison was the choice of the regulars. The voting began at noon, and was conducted amidst much confusion. The nomination was made unanimous. Colonel Sylvester Bonnafon, Jr., was then unanimously nominated for receiver of taxes. The convention, after nominating Colonel Bonnafon for receiver of taxes by acclamation and naming the seven candidates for police magistrates, adjourned.

Colonel Bonnafon is a well known Republican, and he was placed upon the Democratic ticket in deference to the endorsement of him by the municipal League and the Citizens' Committee, reform bodies.

Ex-Governor Pattison will not say whether or not he will accept the nomination. All that he would say upon the matter was that he would carefully consider it before deciding. Nevertheless it seems to be the general opinion that Mr. Pattison will accept the nomination. The position of the Pennsylvania Democracy, the faction opposed to the regular organization, is largely problematical as yet, but the action of the Executive Committee of the Pennsylvania Democracy of the Twentieth ward to-night is significant and seems indicative of peace in the party. The ward is the stronghold of the Pennsylvania Democracy and when the committee met this evening its first action was a hearty endorsement of Pattison.

This Man Has Nerve.

Minneapolis, Minn., January 16.—Harry Hayward's nerve did not desert him when the state's attorney brought the supposed murderer of Miss Catharine Ging face to face with Miss Julia Ging, of Auburn, N. Y., the twin sister of the murdered woman. The meeting was arranged for the purpose of trying the nerve and conscience of Hayward, no intimation being given him. The prisoner looked up calmly in his cell, bowed and said: "From appearances I should say this was Miss Julia Ging; is not this Miss Ging?

The woman gave a nod of affirmation only. Hayward went on to protest his innocence and declared he could convince Miss Ging if he had a long talk with her. His visitor repeated the prisoner's words: "Time will tell."

New Clearfield Motel.

Clearfield, Jan. 16.—William H. Dill's name is again on every tongue in this neighborhood. The superb palatial mansion once owned by Dill's wife, and on which the financier spent $40,000 for repairs only just previous to the failure of the First National bank, of which he was President has received a license from Judge Gordon as a palace in which rum is to be sold.

The Dill mansion, as it is still called, is to be remodeled into a magnificent hotel, which has already received its name, and hereafter be known as The Whitner. The gentlemen who are to take charge of the new venture are hotel men of large experience, and Clearfield is likely to have within its borders one of the handsomest hotels in the state.

Horticulture.

The State Horticultural association, in session at Reading, is giving its attention to such important matters as the spread of diseases and the ravages of insects, among fruits, flowers and vegetables. Our farmers in general are paying more attention than formerly to the scientific management of their fields and groves, and the various county societies are performing a useful work in educating agriculturists in the best methods of making their labors a financial success. So far as it is possible and lawful the efforts of these organizations should be fostered by the state legislature, as the farmers of the eastern states meet with strong competition from the west, where land is cheap and in small need of artificial fertilizing.

Whiskey and Money Freely Used.

Indiana, Pa., Jan 16.—A number of witnesses who had been subpœnaed in the Blair-White contest did not appear to-day and the sheriff is out with attachments for them. So far the testimony discloses apparently grave violations of the Baker ballot law. The rulings of the court are favorable to the counsel for Judge Blair. There is much evidence that whiskey and money were frequently used to inuflence voters.

Two Boys Freezeto Death.

Utica, N. Y., Jan. 18.—William Pitt, who with two other boys recently ran away from St. Vincent's industrial school, was found in a barn near Herkimer this morning. His legs were frozen and he in a bad condition. The bodies of his companions, Thomas Buck and Joseph Erminger, were found in a piece of woods about half a mile from the barn. They had been frozen to death.

FATAL GUN ACCIDENT

James L. McPherson, of Clearfield Receives a Heavy Load of shot.

Clearfield, Jan. 16.—By the accidental discharge of a gun, James Linn McPherson, living on Montgomery creek, two miles above Clearfield, an old resident of this county, a well known lumberman and farmer, and one of the country's best business men was almost ushered into eternity this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

In a joking way after dinner he said he was going to shoot some crows which were around his barn for a potpie and went to a wagonshop to get his breech loading shot gun which was in a sled box, and in the act of withdrawing it by the muzzle the hammer caught on a scoop shovel lying in the sled, the gun went off, shooting him through the heart with a load of heavy shot. He called three times to Robert Cowen who was near and died immediately. Mr. McPherson was 54 years old, a soldier of Company C. Fifth Pennsylvania Reserves, was shot by a minnie ball over the heart in the battle of the Wilderness. A wife and two sons survive him. Ex-Sheriff W. Ross McPherson, Thomas of Clearfield; Reuben, of Patton, and John, living in the west, are brothers.

Mr. Phillips's Labor Bill.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The House committees on Labor to-day order a favorable report to be made on the bill proposed by Mr. Phillips, of Pennsylvania, authorizing the President to appoint a commission of 15 members, five representatives of labor, five business men and five farmers, to meet the problem presented by labor, agriculture and capital. After their appointment each division of five is authorized to choose two additional commissioners to act with them, making the whole number 21. The commission is to exist for two years. It is to furnish Congress information and suggest such laws as may be made a basis for uniform action by the various States, in order to harmonize conflicting interests, and to be equitable to the laborer, the employer, the producer and the consumer. The commission is to grant hearings, receive petitions and make investigations in any section of the United States where it may see fit.

Quay and the Ohio.

Washington, D. D. Jan. 17.—Senator Quay to-day made a favorable report from the committee on commerce of his amendment to the sundry civil bill appropriating $150,000 to continue the construction of dam No 6 on the Ohio river during the coming year. The amendment now goes to the appropriation committee and Senator Quay intends to push it vigorously. He feel confident that he can secure its adoption and enactment into law.

As soon as he can get some important legislation attended to the senator intends to leave for a vacation of ten days or two weeks to Florida.

New Stamped Envelopes.

The new series consist of envelopes of all sizes and kinds, including three special sizes for business purposes, and can be procured at the post office. By an order that went into effect after the first of January, business men, when ordering stamped envelopes, can have their business card or return notice printed on the envelopes free of cost. Heretofore there was an extra charge for this. Another feature of importance in connection with this is the fact that since January 1 the price on stamped envelopes is on an average, taking all sizes, about 40 per cent lower than heretofore.

Cure for Pneumonia.

Dr. Cyrus Edison, health officer for New York city, gives the following treatment for pneumonia which, if applied in time, he asserts will prove effective. When an adult is seized with a sudden chill, the chill which is the beginning of pneumonia, ten grains of quinine in one dose should be taken immediately, followed at once by five drops of camphor in water or a lump of sugar. The feet should be soaked in hot water, the body being wrapped in a blanket. Then jump into bed. The body will perspire, being yet wrapped in the blanket, and a prospective case of pneumonia may be nipped in the bud.

Some Appointments Made.

Harrisburg, January 16.—Adjutant General Stewart this evening announced the following appointments: Chief clerk, Captain George C. Kelly, Lewisburg; superintendent of the arsenal, Captain John W. Fesbit, Allegheny; keeper of the flag room Enos Russell; clerk at arsenal, Richard Haywood, Howard Hartsig, of Clearfield, has been appointed law clerk in the attorneo general's office and T. Larry Eyre, of Chester, as deputy secretary of internal affairs, Burned to Death.

Uniontown, Pa., Jan. 16.—Last night Sarah Folan, a domestic employed by Mrs Ellis Bailey, tripped and fell down stairs while carrying a lighted lamp. An explosion followed and the girl was horribly burned, dying two hours later. At the house of George Todd, near Greensburg, last evening Samuel Todd, aged 5 years, was burned to death by his clothing igniting from a grate fire. Mrs. Todd was badly burned trying to save her child.

Government by Imagination.

Take the show element out of monarchy, and how long could it exist in any country? Those who have looked at Thackeray's picture of the French king in his royal robes and wig and out of them can answer. This is suggested by the circus in the Prussian Landtag yesterday, with the Emperor—King William, as principal performer. First the Catholic members filed into the hall, and while waiting the hour for the opening of the session, spent the time walking about and gazing more or less reverently at the newly placed busts of the Prussian sovereigns. Then came William at the head of the Protestant members from the chapel, and strode through the hall in state, going out of one door, facing about and striding in at another, preceded by the color company of the castle guard, which made way for him to ascend the throne in still greater state; when Chancellor Hohenlohe handed him the royal speech, which he read in awe-inspiring tones. This was for precisely the same effect that Thackeray's French king had in view when he covered his bald head with a splendid flowing wig, and with flowing robes made his scrawny little body look heroic in proportions. The object of both was government through the imagination instead of the reason, to have display pass for evidence and argument. There is something of that in this country, but most people see through it and are amused, not impressed by it. The time for government by the imagination ought to be near expire everywhere.

The Ideal Female Arm.

"I find great difficulty in getting a model with good arms," said a well known sculptor to the New York World recently. "It is astonishing how few women there are with arms that conform to the standard. A perfect arm, measured from the wrist joint to the armpit should be twice the length of the head. The upper part of the arm should be large, full and well rounded. There should be a dimple at the elbow. The fore arm must not be too flat, not nearly so flat as a man's, for instance.

"From a well-molded shoulder the whole arm should taper in long, graceful curves to a well rounded wrist. It is better to have an arm that harmonizes, even if the parts do not conform to the generally accepted lines. For instance, a full round upper arm which is joined to a flat or thin forearm has very bad effect. Perhaps it is only a little worse, however, than a graceful well molded forearm tacked on to a thin, scrawny upper arm.

"Correctness of form is not the only thing necessary for a good arm. The owner must possess the power of expression with her arms. American women are deficient in this as a rule. Those nationalities which show the most expression in their arms are the Spanish, French and Italians. The warmest admirer of Sara Bernhardt would not claim that she had beautiful arms, yet no one can say that the Divine Sara ever appears ungainly in consequence. Much more lies in the faculty of arm expression than is generally supposed."

THE RESULT

OF AN AMERICAN WOMAN'S WORK.

Not An Assertion, But a Truth, Proven by the Accumulated Testimony of 20 Years.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS]

HERE'S a reason for it, when a special remedy for a special disease maintains the first place in the faith of the people for twenty years; when, year after year, the confidence given cautiously at first rolls into a tremendous volume; when one woman's name is known throughout the civilized world; when letters by the thousands come by every mail from all parts of the earth in gratitude and praise; when druggists place this remedy first on the list of standard remedies.

Then there is a reason for it. Lydia E. Pinkham and her wonderful Vegetable Compound, deserve the first place in the hearts of womankind.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured more women from all disease arising from irregularity and derangement of the uterus and womb than any remedy known to medical science.

Are you suffering? then profit by the experience of this thankful woman:—

Dear Mrs. Pinkham,—Last winter I did not think my little ones would have a mother long. I suffered terribly with female troubles.

I could keep nothing on my stomach, and got so "poor" my friends hardly knew me. I suffered with severe headaches, dizziness, faintness, backache, and the blues.

Thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I am now as fat as ever, and have no female troubles.

If you use my letter I hope it may be the means of saving some other poor mother's life as it did mine.—MRS. ELLA VAN BUREN, St. David, Fulton Co., Ill.

No Ministers' Passes.

The Pennsylvania railway lines west of Pittsburg have caused quite a sensation in church circles by the announcement that the free pass or half fare to ministers of the gospel was a thing of the past. The custom of giving reduced fares to ministers will be still in force east of Pittsburg until March 31. The coupon issued ministers calling for a reduction in fare is good only until that time.

This move has caused the wildest excitement and has come on the clergymen like a clap of thunder. For years past they have been traveling on passes at reduced rates and such a move was altogether unexpected. It is given out, however, that the Pennsylvania system has been trying to reach this point for years past.

The lines thus closed against the ministers are the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago; the Panhandle; the Pittsburg and Lake Erie; Erie and Pittsburg and many branch roads. The railroad people give out that the present state of affairs will remain in force at least until the next meeting of the Central Traffic association, when it will be made permanent, perhaps, and other systems will be asked to join in the moment.

It Is Not Repudiation.

The West Virginia House of Delegates did not by its action yesterday mean to repudiate that State's share of the debt contracted by Virginia while West Virginia was a part of the Old Dominion. Some of the House would indicate that. What the House did was to unanimously reject the terms of payment offered by Virginia. The proposition to West Virginia was that it should accept one third as its share. That was refused because an arbitary estimate of the amount may be one-third, or it may be one-fifth or one-sixth or less; no one can tell until the question is investigated. Whatever it may be the state will be responsible for it. When West Virginia became a State it was a wild region compared to what it is now, and as the debt was contracted previous to that, the citizens very reasonably doubt that its wealth then or the benefit which it received from the money justifies the parent State in apportioning to it one-third of the debt.

THIS MAN SECURED LOANS.

And He Succeeded in Doing So by Forging Valuable Bonds.

New York, January 18.—Edwin O. Quigley, of the firm of Quigley & Tuttle, bond brokers at No. 6, Wall street, was arrested this morning on the complaint of President William P. St. John, of the Mercantile National bank. He is charged with securing loans of $144,000 on $166,000 forged bonds. Quigley confesses to the forgery and exonerates his partner. Quigley claims he lost the money in speculation. President St. John said the bank's apparent loss will be greatly reduced by levies under attachments. The firm of Quigley & Tuttle, dealers in county and municipal bonds and other investment securities, was organized in 1890. Evidences of confidence in the firm on the part of moneyed institutions and others throughout New England, and the business-like conduct of the firm, left no room for suspicion of Quigley at any point. The bonds forged were of cities whose credit is high and they were hypothecated to the bank in parcels from time to time under exchanges of collateral among the different loans.

Quigley is about 35 years old. William H. Tuttle, is the son of the late John B. Tuttle, treasurer of the New Haven's Savings bank, who died two years ago leaving a considerable sum to his son. It is believed that Quigley resorted to the expedient of borrowing money on forged bonds to conceal his outside losses from his partner who relied upon Quigley for the management of the firm's business. He was a very high liver and a member of a number of swell clubs. He was also interested in trotting horses and owned a stock farm in New Jersey, and it is not believed he lost all the money in speculation. There were no assets at his office, but an attempt will be made to-morrow to recover as far as possible from his partner who is supposed to have a larger property in New Haven.

At the same time that Quigley was brought to the general sessions building, Mr. Battle went before the grand jury with Lawyer Brownell and the case was presented. An indictment was found at once for forgery in the first degree. Quigley was then arraigned before Recorder Goff. He was very much broken up. When asked to plead he stood with bowed head and murmured "Guilty." He was at once taken back to the tombs. The bank will not lose the $144,000 entirely, as attachments have been levied against securities held by the prisoner.

A Doubtful Mare's Nest.

There has been considerable talk in Bellefonte lately in regard to an apparent deficiency in Judge Love's commission, as it reads, he is to preside over the court of common pleas, in the district, whilst here to fore the commissions of president judge have read "over the court of quarter session, over and terminer and general jail delivery," or in other words, over all the courts of the district. Some democrats claim that under his commission Judge Love can only preside over the court of common pleas, and that another judge will have to be appointed by the Gov ernor, to preside over the other courts mentioned.

It is our opinion there was a clerical mistake made in filling out the commission, or that the Legislature has changed the phrasology of the commission to be issued to President Judges. At all events we are loosing no sleep in regard to another judge being appointed, of the democrat it persuasion to preside over the other courts, for it would end Gov. Pattison's administration with dishonor and the democratic party has about as much of that commodity as it can carry without adding an additional burden to its already over taxed power.—Hornet.

Farms and Their Tax Rates.

Secretary Edge, of the state board of agriculture, has obtained the value of 17,719 farms in the state, with a view of ascertaining the average mill rate. These farms paid taxes aggregating $826,000 in round numbers, were valued at $102,000,000, and showed an average mill rate of 8.21. Returns from 8,081 farms in 1891 showed the average tax to have been 8.58 mills. The lowest rate in 1894 was in Lehigh county, 4.64. The rate in Indiana county overtopped that of any other county, reaching 17.29.

—It's just like a woman to scold about the little troubles and be brave about big ones. To overestimate their own beauty far less than they underestimate their own goodness. To faint at mice and spank tigers with a broomstick. To value a baby above the world; or a pug above a baby. To keep nine commandments more easily than the tenth. To look at the most undeserving of men through the kindly spectacles of pity. To try independence, succeed in it, but prefer it not. To toil life long for social position, or throw it away in an instant.

—The Williamsburg correspondent of the Tribune is responsible for the following: A butcher not many furlongs from Patchtown was out for a day's butchering. He took his revolver, held it close to one hog's head and fired. The ball passed clear through the head, going up from the under side of its jaw and killing it. The second shot hit the third one, killing it and glanced off, killing the fourth one; glancing again, it struck the fifth one on the leg and hit the butcher on the finger.

A SAD ACCIDENT.

The Victim Was Lynn McPherson, of Near Clearfield.

Clearfield, January 18.—A sad accident has resulted in the death of a prominent citizen. Yesterday afternoon Mr. Lynn McPherson, a prominent farmer of near Clearfield, took his gun from his house to shoot crows. After he was done shooting he placed the gun in a wagon box in the shed and for a while busied himself with duties that demanded his attention. In the meantime a gentleman came who had business with Mr. McPherson and together they started for the house. Having passed the shed, McPherson said to the man with him, "I believe I will take my gun to the house," and accordingly turned and went back to the shed, disappearing from sight of the man, who, when he heard the report of the gun, ran back and found McPherson lying on the floor of the shed in the agonies of death. He lived but five minutes after being shot and was unable to speak.

It is supposed that he went to where the gun was lying in the wagon catching it by the end of the barrel and drew it toward him with the hammer dragging on the bottom of the box which catching on some obstruction was pulled back sufficiently so that when loosened it had force enough to explode the cap. The gun was loaded with buckshot, four of which penetrated his breast shattering the bones and passing through his heart and coming out of the back. He leaves a wife and two sons. He was a fond father and a man much respected by all who knew him; a kind neighbor and firm friend. McPherson came from a very good family and one of the oldest in this section. He was a brother of ex-Sheriff McPherson, of this county. This sad end cast a great gloom over our town, and for a while all business was suspended in the deep sympathy and regret that possessed the hearts of men.

The French Republic.

However unsatisfactory the French plan of electing the President may be as part of a constitutional system, it has at least one practical advantage in the celerity and ease with which vacancies are filled. Of the five Presidents of the present Republic not one has retired by the expiration of his term of office. Thiers, MacMahon, Grevy and Casimir-Perier resigned, and Sadi Carnot was assassinated. France reeled for a moment under the shock of the assassination, but for a moment only. The National Assembly was immediately convened and elected his successor, who was installed without the least disturbance. The hasty resignation of his successor was an even greater shock to the constitutional system, yet it has apparently stood the strain without injury.

The election of M. Faure is an indication that things will not go on without immediate change. Whether M. Faure will prove any more successful than his predecessor in establishing the constitutional position of the President must depend partly on his personal character and judgment and partly upon the direction of political events over which he can exercise but little immediate control. He is a man of high character and great ability, a shipping merchant of large fortune, and an economist of authority. He has been active in the public affairs of the Republic both as Deputy and as Minister without having assumed at any time the attitude of a political leader. He is not reactionary, like Waldeck-Rousseau, nor radical like Brisson. He probably represents very fairly the prevailing sentiment of a majority of the French people, which is that of a moderate progressive Republicanism, rather than the aggressive Democracy of which Brisson is an able and conscientious exponent.

Among our callers on Friday was Mr. H. L. Fritz, the genial Express Messenger on the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania. Before he left Mr. Fritz added his name to the hundreds of others who now read the NEWS every day.

—The Chief Burgess should see to it that the ordinance forbidding coasting on pavements is enforced. Several minor accidents have been brought to the writer's attention as occuring during the past few days from this sport, and the coasting should be stopped before some person is seriously hurt. Give it your attention, Mr. Burgess.

—Captain George Kelly will be retained as chief clerk in the adjutant general's office at Harrisburg. Captain Kelly was appointed to a clerkship in this department during the administration of the late Governor Curtin and has been retained by every succeeding administration. He is thoroughly conversant with all the details and business generally of the office and is therefore an invaluable man in the place. Besides he is a courteous gentleman, and national guardsman often find themselves in need of special favors, which his fund of information supplies willingly and quickly.

—Every hill in Bellefonte was just filled with coasters on Thursday night, and no wonder. The many hills were never in a better condition for coasting than they are now. The snow on the streets is packed solid and almost smooth as glass, and when one of the big coasters gets started at the top of one of these big hills, it comes down like lightning, and runs until it comes to another hill, whether it be a half mile or a mile in distance. There is just one thing that should be done, the Chief Burgess should not allow coasting on the pavements. It is dangerous alike to life and limb of the coasters as well as pedestrians.

FREE TRADE AND PROTECTION.

Those who are not so unfortunate as to be left in idleness will have the opportunity to test free trade by the household budget. They will find that free trade is a system of taxation, no less than protection, and has to get just as much revenue out of the people for the treasury. They also will find that while protection adjusts duties for the benefit of American labor, free trade shifts those duties to articles which do not compete with American labor, but which all classes have to consume. Thus raw sugar came in free under the McKinley tariff, and this at once forced down the price of all sugars. Now they will go up, and every time a woman buys a pound of sugar, or a child spends a dime on candy, they will pay part of the tax taken off the clothing imported for "society" people from London or Paris.

In fact, the duties levied on imports by the McKinley tariff bill fell slightly or not at all upon the body of the people, while they worked to secure to them the largest and best paid employment possible. Those of the new tariff, in so far as they fall below the McKinley bill, tend to reduce both wages and employment, while the new taxes will fall upon the people at large out of all proportion to their ability to pay. The duties on sugar, on which Mr. Carlisle counts to bring up the revenue, are borne in proportion to consumption. The rich consume only a little more than the poor do a head, and the bulk of the tax will fall on the most numerous class, and that least able to bear it.

We have heard a great deal of the rapid growth of big fortunes in America, and the tariff has been charged with being the cause of it. A close examination of 1,100 of the biggest fortunes in and around New York shows that very few of them have been accumulated in manufacturing. Dealing in stocks, managing railroads, and ownership of real estate have been the basis of most. In fact, the tariff tended to equalize conditions, so long as it was thoroughly protective. It enabled workmen to demand better wages, and to accumulate savings by hundreds of millions of dollars, while it exempted them from taxes on necessaries produced abroad, such as tea, coffee and sugar. The new tariff takes the first step toward the kind of tariff the ruling class have enacted in England for their own benefit—that is, a tariff which does nothing for English labor, but levies high duties on tea, coffee, sugar, tobacco and other articles of general consumption. In this way the bulk of this English taxation falls on the poor, and tends to keep them down.

A FAIR SAMPLE.

The principal result of the tariff agitation was the closing down of the majority of the places of employment. Now that the agitation is over, unless the Democrats succeed in maintaining control of the government, the owners of manufacturing establishments are looking the situation in the face, trying to discover where and what the chances are for resumption and how they can adjust their business to the new conditions forced on them by the new tariff. A sample of the new conditions is furnished by a notice that has just been posted in the mill of the American Cordage Manufacturing company at Greenpoint, New York. Here is the notice:

"The government of the United States having removed the duty on bagging, it can be imported free. Bagging is manufactured in India, Germany and Scotland. Wages in these countries are as follows: For weavers, spinners and men laborers, ten cents per day in India; thirty cents per day in Germany; forty-five cents per day in Scotland, and other countries in proportion.

"In spite of these very low wages paid in other countries the company hopes that it may be found possible to continue the business here. Inquiry is now being made as to the cost of landing bagging here from other countries, and on the information obtained the management will determine what course to pursue. It is with much sorrow that the employes are notified that under the best conditions that are hoped for it will not be possible to continue to pay the present scale of wages.

"By about Nov. 1 it will be decided whether the mill can be run at all, and if so at what rate of pay for each class of employes. Meantime the present rate of wages will continue to be paid. The managers of the company appreciate the good work lately given by all the employes, and while thanking each one, now wish to remind them that it is only by extra effort and increased production that the mill can possibly be kept going."

The mill employs about 700 hands, and it is safe to say that none of them will vote the ticket this year of the party that has made it possible for the product of the labor that is paid ten, thirty and forty-five cents a day to come into the country free of duty in competition with the product of the well paid American labor, of which they were a part before the tariff agitation and the passage of the Gorman tariff bill.

Prepared for a Siege.

Fairmound, Minn., Jan. 18.—About 8 o'clock last night Sam Hoteling, a farmer living five miles south of here, went to the house of T. B. Whitney, his father-in-law, and shot and killed both of the old people and his wife, who had left and gone to live with her parents. A young daughter of Whitney escaped from the house and gave the alarm.

After committing the murder Hoteling fled to his own house near by, and barricading doors and windows, prepared for a siege. He kept the Sheriff's posse at bay until this morning, when a number of militia rifles were taken from this place and the house riddled with bullets. Hoteling was found dead, having shot himself in the head.

Don't pry into motives. Many a woman goes to church to show a new bonnet and many a young man to see the girls.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS

Edited by ALBERT SHAW

IT WAS in April, 1891, that the first number of the American Review of Reviews was printed. The new idea of giving the best that was in the other magazines in addition to its own brilliant, original articles, took America by storm, as it had taken England—though the magazine itself was not at all a reprint of the English edition. It deals most largely with American affairs, and is edited with perfect independence, in its own office.

The Review of Reviews is a monthly, timely in illustration and text, and instantly alive to the newest movements of the day, to a degree never before dreamed of. Thousands of readers who offer their commendations, among them the greatest names in the world, say that the Review of Reviews gives them exactly what they should know about politics, literature, economics and social progress. The most influential men and women of all creeds and all parties have agreed that no family can afford to lose its educational value, while for professional and business men, it is simply indispensable. The departments are conducted by careful specialists, instead of mere scissors-wielders, and scores of immediately interesting portraits and pictures are in each number.

All this explains why the Review of Reviews has come to a probably unprecedented success in the first three years of its existence. For 1895 it will be more invaluable than ever.

Agents are reaping handsome profits. We give liberal commissions. Send for terms.

THE REGULAR DEPARTMENTS

Besides the special articles and character sketches of thrilling interest and timeliness, the Review of Reviews has these regular departments:

The Progress of the World.—An illustrated editorial review of the month's events which thinking, alert men and women should understand in their proper significance and proportions.

Leading Articles of the Month.—This department, and the succeeding one, The Periodicals Reviewed, embody the idea on which the magazine was founded and named. All that is best in the other magazines, American and foreign, is here brightly summarized, reviewed and quoted from.

Current History in Caricature chronicles the month's history through the picturesque means of the successful cartoons that are appearing throughout the world.

Other departments review carefully new books, give lists and indexes of all articles in the world's magazines, and furnish a terse daily record of current events.

Personally-Conducted Tours via Pennsylvania Railroad.

It is at this season of the year that people's thoughts turn to some method by which the rigors of our northern winter climate may be escaped, and a trip to the "Land of Flowers," if only for a short time, offers the easiest solution of the question.

In order to give the public an opportunity to visit Florida at a very reasonable cost, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has arranged for a series of tours to Jacksonville, and the well earned reputation acquired by that company for the superiority of its personally conducted tours will be maintained for this year's series. Since the system of personally-conducted tours inaugurated by that company has been in effect, none but words of commendation have been received. Its unexcelled train service, experienced Tourist Agents and Chaperons, and above all, its moderate charges, leave nothing to be desired.

The tours to Jacksonville, allowing two weeks' stay in Florida, will leave New York and Philadelphia on January 29, February 12 and 26, and March 12 and 26, 1895. The rate, including transportation, meals en route, and Pullman berth on special train, is $50.00 from New York, and $48.00 from Philadelphia; proportionate rates from other points.

For further information apply to Ticket Agents, or address Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York, or Room 411, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, to whom application for space should also be made.

What Hard Water Does.

The hard water necessarily in common use for drinking purposes in many places tends to cause the deposite of calcareous matter in the Kidneys and Bladder, producing the agonizing and dangerous disease known as Gravel and Stone. Formerly the only relief from these affections was by painful surgical operations, and even they were of questionable value. Now the work of removal of these foreign substances from the delicate organs they clog irritate and torture, is safely, speedily and painlessly done by Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. No other medicine can be relied upon so implicitly. In every case of Kidney Disease it should be resorted to at once.

—The Pittsburg Dispatch funny man says that "Bellefonte has about promulgated the idea of a "greater Bellefonte" by attaching Pittsburg and Philadelphia." So far as the two cities are concerned they could not get in better company, but there is yet abundant of gubernatorial timber here without attaching any outside population. While Philadelphia would be too slow and Pittsburg too smoky for the fast company and pure atmosphere that contributes to the make up of the only Bellefonte.

THIRTY-SEVEN LIVES LOST.

Passenger Steamer Missouri Strikes a Rock and Sinks.

Owensburg, Ky., January 20.—Brief and fragmentary details of the destruction af the big passenger steamer State of Missouri, Saturday evening at 6 o'clock, at Alton, Indiana, 100 miles above here, have been received. She struck a rock and sank in fifty feet of water. The reports say that at least thirty-seven passengers were drowned, but no names are given. The State of Missouri is a very long stern wheeler, plying between Cincinnati and New Orleans. She had on board a fairly large cargo of freight and 100 cabin passengers, besides a crew of sixty. At Alton the river narrows, and the water running high an extremely swift current results. This threw the stern of the boat in towards the Indiana shore. Before the pilot could regain control of the boat she hit a rock, tearing a long hole in the hold at the water line. The shock was terrific and consternation seized upon the passengers and in a moment they were frantic.

Without regard of consequences they rushed to the upper decks in the hope of delaying the inevitable, as the boat was rapidly sinking. The women and children were trampled upon, but it is believed all got out of the cabin. Then the scramble for seats in the yawls began. It was a fight for life, in which many combatants are believed to have gone to their death. The first yawl launched was sunk within twenty feet or where it struck the water. It is believed every one in it was drowned in sight of the affrighted people huddled together on the sinking steamer.

A second yawl was then pushed off containing four women. This is believed to have reached shore. Just when there seemed some hope that by means of this yawl the passengers could be saved, the steamer gave another terrific lurch and literally broke into pieces and in ten minutes from the time the wreck was struck nothing but the hull remained. The cabin, decks and pilot house floated away, dragging down into the water everyone upon them. The lighter freight was washed from the main deck and on this men, women and children clung as best they could many, however, only to fall back into the water. Several suceeded in getting into the willows and trees and were rescued by farmers and passing steamers.

On the City of Owensboro, which passed here to-night, were four of the passengers who had been rescued from the trees. One of them was W. C. Leathers, of Kentucky. Mr. Leathers thinks that at least fifty people were drowned. He says there were fifteen cabin passengers, thirty deck passengers and a crew of sixty on board.

The steamer Tell City, bound for Louisville, hove insight early this morning and took most of the survivors to Louisville.

Alton, Ind., where the wreck occurred, is thirty miles from a telegraph station, with almost impassable roads. The news secured came by steamers passing here today.

What Will He Say?

Philadelphia, Pa., January 21.—Ex-Governor Robert E. Pattison, who on last Wednesday night was nominated by the democratic city convention for the office of mayor, was today officially notified of his nomination by a committee headed by Willian F. Belsterling, permanent chairman of the convention. The formal letter presented to ex-Governor Pattison read:

"Your nomination was made, not only because of your high character and position in the community and of your eminent qualification for that high office, but also in response to the spontaneous demand of your fellow citizens of Philadelphia, irrespective of party, that you should lead the movement in favor of municipal reform and honest government. It gives us great pleasure to convey to you this information and we cordially express the hope that you will accept the nomination so tendered and lead in what will be a successful movement for better government in Philadelphia."

The ex-governor stated to the committee that he would reply by letters probably within the next two days. He said he appreciated the kindness of the convention in selecting him but beyond that did not express himself.

Chairman Wilhere when asked this after noon about the alleged ineligibility of ex-Governor Pattison to become the mayoralty candidate, was inclined to treat the matter humorously. "I think the question raised by the republicans," said Mr. Wilhere, "is a confession of weakness. It certainly looks as though our republican friends are becoming alarmed."

Great Destitution in Nebraska.

Greely Centre, Neb., January 20.—The distress in this part of the state is appalling. No picture of the suffering has been overdrawn and a great many sad cases have been suppressed. Thus far there has been but little cold weather and no snow. Hundreds of families have nothing to eat and no fuel, and children are so nearly naked that they are kept from school. At least one fifth of the people of this county have become county charges, which has depleted the county treasury and depreciated county paper until it is not worth more than half its value and is still going down.

It is impossible for the people to care for the destitute and unless a large amount of outside assistance is received at once some of the worthy farmers and their families will perish. The people are most in need of clothing any thing in that line can not fail to alleviate the suffering.

WHAT THEY ALL SAY.

Beautiful Women Give Some Wonderful information Concerning Female Beauty. We do not Think it Will Take Women Long to Act Upon This Idea.

The poet and philosopher, Ralph Waldo Emerson says:

"If eyes were made for seeing,
Then beauty is its own excuse for being."

Beauty of feature and elegance of form have ever been the desire of the feminine mind. And it is a perfectly laudable and natural ambition. Women are born to sway the hearts and minds as much by their beauty and attractiveness, as by subtler charms of goodness and purity.

And yet how few women attain the beauty which should be theirs, and in those few who are beautiful, how quickly their beauty fades! This is wrong. Women are naturally beautiful—at least of pleasing and attractive appearance—and in nearly all the cases where women lack these physicial charms, the fault is their own.

Good looks and beautiful forms are entirely dependent upon good health. One must have strong nerves and pure blood to be beautiful. Failing to have these, is to fail of good looks and fine figure, and the woman who becomes broken in health, even in the slightest degree, will see her beauty gradually fade.

The moment women realize this, that moment will they understand that physical beauty is a matter within their own control. And just how it is so, is told by Mrs. Frances Lytel. of 2 Hunter Avenue Rochester, N. Y.

"I was very pale and delicate [illegible] and had no color, and had female weakness with leucorrhœa, and suffered great pain at my periods. I am now well thanks to Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. My face is plump and my cheeks red, and my complexion pure. When I began the use of this remedy, I only weighed 81 pounds, and now I weigh 115 pounds and am still gaining. Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is a wonderful medicine. I have not had any trouble since I began taking it.

Miss Emma Marlatt, of Oxford, N. J. says:

"I have been a sufferer for ten years, and the victim of a large tumor weighing twenty pounds, which I had removed, and I suffered untold agony for many months after.

"I tried the skill of many physicians, all of whom utterly failed to give me any relief.

"I then used that wonderful medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and after using a few bottles I was entirely cured.

"To those that have been suffering from various diseases, and have failed to find any relief, I am to-day a living testimony and witness to the wonderful and marvelous curative powers of this great medicine. To persons suffering from various diseases, I earnestly recommend the use of this remedy if they would be cured. For further information I will willingly, cheerfully, and promptly respond."

Miss Della T. Shea, of 210 Lexington St., East Boston, Mass., makes the following statement:

"About seven years ago I began to fee very uncomfortable after eating, so much so that I found it impossible to keep the lightest food on my stomach. I grew worse for three months, so I was obliged to give up work and go to the hospital.

"I tried many remedies and doctors, but they did me no good. A friend advised me to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

"I began using it, and after a week felt much better. When I had taken four bottles the weakness in my stomach was all gone, and I could eat anything without distress, while a short time before I found it impossible for weeks at a time to even drink a glass of milk and keep it in my stomach.

"I was unable to wear anything but a loose dress, and I did not go out of the house for months at a time. I am now cured of my troubles, and am well and strong. My cure is wonderful. Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy has done what the hospitals, doctors and other medicines could not do.

"It is a splendid medicine, and I urge every suffering person to use it. I love to think of the good it is doing, and wish everyone who is not perpectly well would take it."

Miss Rose McCarthy, of 347 East 87th St., New York City, writes as follows:

"For a long time I was troubled with nervousness and violent headaches. I would lie awake nearly all night, and was in constant misery. Previous to this, my complexion was a very unhealthy color, but now it became very bad.

"I took three bottles of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and was entirely cured. My nervousness and headaches left me, my good complexion returned, and I slept perfectly. I can safely say to everybody who is suffering, just give it a trial, and you will be cured. I hope my statement will find relief for many people who do not know the benefit of such a wonderful medicine."

It is thus evident that woman can get well—can secure perfect health, strong nerves and pure blood by using the great vital restorative, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. If, therefore, women will maintain their health and strength by this remarkable medicine, we will guarantee them beauty of face and form, the bright eyes, pink cheeks and clear complexion of youth, and the rounded form, graceful lines and elastic step of vigorous physicial development.

This remedy can be used without hesitation by all, as it is purely vegetable and is endorsed and prescribed by physicians; in deed, it is the prescription and discovery of our most successful physician in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th St., New York City, who can be consulted at any time, without charge, personally or by letter.

ORDERS NOT MISUSED.

George W. Boyd Stands Right Up for the Clergymen.

Philadelphia, Pa, Jan. 22. In reference to the agitation by the trunk line passenger committee of the question of withdrawing clerical orders or half rate tickets issued for the use of clergymen, George W. Boyd, assistant general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania railroad, said today:

"There is no foundation whatever for the statement that clerical orders have been misused, as far as the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is concerned. Last year this company issued between 13,000 and 14,000 orders to clergymen residing on its lines east and west of Pittsburg, and no case of misuse or abuse of the privilege has come to our notice."

"What ground is there for such a charge?"

"If there has been any misuse of the orders issued by other lines it is due to the careless manner in which they have been issued, and the blame for their misuse should be placed upon the railroad, and not upon the ministers."

"The question is in the hands of the trunk line committee and will be settled within the next two months. This company has always looked upon it is as a proper courtesy. Clergymen, in their work of shaping public opinion and of elevating the moral tone of the people, are certainly a most deserving class, and this corporation has always felt that liberal treatment accorded them served the double purpose of contributing to the good work and aiding a most worthy class of, at best, badly paid workers."

A friend advised me to try Ely's Cream Balm and after using it six weeks I believe myself cured of catarrh. It is a most valuable remedy.—Joseph Stewart, 624 Grand Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

My son was afflicted with catarrh, I induced him to try Ely's Cream Balm and the disagreeable catarrhal smell all left him. He appears as well as anyone.—J. C. Olmstead, Arcola, Ill.

Price of Cream Balm is fifty cents.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

NIAGARA'S FASCINATION.

An Indescribable Attraction Well Nigh Irresistible to the Spectator.

Not every visitor to Niagara falls has for his benefit a full moon every night and a brilliant sun by day. They tell me that the grand time to see Niagara is at midwinter, when huge tons of ice go thundering over the cataract and the lower falls are one mass of sparkling icicles. But one cannot see everything, and Niagara in summer time is quite good enough for me. Arriving in the middle of the night, with the moon at the full, it was impossible even then to resist the fascination of Niagara's deep diapason sound of welcome.

We wandered out, the night as light as day, under acres of white blossoms, to see the upper torrent before it falls over the precipice. This was to be all. The rest was to be left to the imagination. You cannot conceive the effect of that midnight ramble—the eternal thud of the cataract emphasizing the delicious silence of the night. Standing as I did on the edge of the green garden on the American side, looking over to the deep and somber belt of pines on the opposite island watching and eternally watching these angry waters lashed into foam and hurrying to their downfall below, it did not seem to me at first that this comparatively narrow course could end in a triumph of magnificence.

But there was no vestige or shadow of disappointment in the morning. How should there be? The apple blossoms were waxen, the grass of emerald green, the sky was blue, the sun was in the heavens. At last it was all right with the world. So I took the picture gradually, piece by piece, like a miser. I lifted the curtain gradually and peeped at the wonderful scene point by point and bit by bit. The plan was to walk by the side of the torrent and to pause at every resting place—first, the very edge where the water breaks from its narrow bed into immeasurable distance and becomes a mighty cataract; next, a little lower down, where can be seen the effect of the great fall, the majesty of which seems incomparable; then a little further down, where you find that the first falls are mere child's play compared to the misty majesty of the Horseshoe falls. The proportions of this indescribable picture are so equal and admirable that at first, as at St. Peter's in Rome, you are apt to be a little disappointed. You cannot be convinced of the magnificence of St. Peter's unless you go to the top of the highest dome. You cannot be completely persuaded of the astonishing majesty of Niagara unless you descend to the very bottom.

Modern enterprise allows you this experience. Formerly you had to stand on a slippery rock in a mackintosh and go literally under the falls. Nowadays a plucky little steamboat plunges into the very heart of the torrent and takes you so near the falling mass of glittering and rainbow tinted water that you gasp for breath. This expedition should be missed by no one. You cannot see the falls or understand them without it.

You will ask me, what is the effect of Niagara falls on the spectator? To me they have an indescribable attraction and fascination. While resting there I could not get away from them. The roar in the distance seemed a call which I was bound to answer. All day long I was strolling about Goat island or standing on the bridge, or over on the Canadian side sitting and looking at the rainbow and the waves of the opposite fall. Try as I would, I could not tear myself away from the attractive cataract. The most hideously fascinating corner of all is the exact break where the rushing water falls sheer down the precipice.

One-half step here and death would greet you in less than a second. This is a corner that ought to be barred from the sight. If it is necessary to heighten the barriers of Clifton suspension bridge, it should be doubly right to hide these fascinating corners of Niagara, where the roar soothes and the rushing water allures. But for all that, hither suicides eternally come. Niagara has been the nepenthe of many a weary soul. If I were to visit the place a hundred times, I should still be found all day long walking round and round the falls and rapids, and watching the everlasting rush from peace of lake to turbulence of whirlpool. Niagara is to my mind one of the most fascinating spots on earth.—London Telegraph.

Tired of Waiting on Smith.

Lancaster, Jan. 25.—When the case of E. K. Smith and C. E. Graybill who composed the banking firm of E. K. Smith & Company, of Columbia, which failed a few years ago, with large liabilities and no assets, was called for trial to-day, Smith failed to appear. The court at once ordered his bail forfeited and directed the Sheriff to bring him into court as soon as possible.

The charge against the two men is embezzlement and the case has been continued several times because of the ill health of Mr. Smith and there has been much indignation expressed over the postponements. It is stated this morning that Smith is still sick, but the court directed that he be brought in as humane a manner as possible and that a physician would be allowed to accompany him.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

COAL CARS PILED UP.

Wreck on Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg.

Ridgway, Jan. 22.—A fatal railroad wreck occurred on the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg railroad near Carmen Interchange this morning. Three sections of a coal train piled up and caught fire. The accident occurred upon a bridge and the trains toppled over into the ravine. One man was killed and four injured by the accident.

The sections were running close to each other. Near Carmen the first section stopped and the flagman was sent out. The engineer of the second section saw the signal and slowed up, but could not stop until near the caboose of the first section. Flagman of the second section did not have time enough to signal the third section and it crashed into the second and drove that into the first section. Fireman William Baxter, of Bradford, who was on his engine in the second section, had his arm so badly crushed that it was amputated this afternoon. The middle brakeman, named McPhilame who was in the caboose, was buried beneath the wreckage and it is feared, was burned in the fire which followed the collision. No trace of his body can be found. Conductor James Morrow, of Bradford, was also badly hurt and bruised and another, whose name could not be learned, was injured. Flagman Traynor was injured about the arms and body, but not seriously. McPhilame was buried beneath the wreck and either burned to death or lost under the ice. He recently came here from the south and was not very well known.

Strikers Issue an Address.

Brooklyn, N. Y., January 20.—There was a meeting of the strikers this evening. The meeting lasted until nearly midnight. An address to the citizens of Brooklyn was then issued. In substance it is as follows:

CITIZENS: Seven days have passed since the employes of the Brooklyn trolley lines were driven from their posts by soulless corporations because they were human beings and unable to work another year under the terrible strain upon them by being compelled to run trolley cars through crowded streets at a high rate of speed for fourteen hours for a day's work, though they contracted for only ten hours. All our offers to arbitrate were cruelly rejected. The cars are not yet run, in spite of military and police—not because of our violence, but because the companies cannot get skilled labor to work upon their terms as to what shall constitute a day's work. The companies' officers do not want to operate the roads as long as they can hoodwink the mayor and the public. If they did, every wheel, without the help of police or military, would be running in one hour. The whole strike, heartless as it is, is caused by those who wish to depreciate the stocks of the company held by out siders.

We have bowed to the written law and shall salute Gessler's hat until the great majority of suffering beings find what we in bitterners have learned—that the laws, the judges and the government are for the rich, the powerful, and the grasping. Our servants, they should be, our masters they are. When, oh when, will come the day when their vows shall be spilled on the ground."

—The University Extension lecture on "Carlisle," by Dr. Rolfe, in the Presbyterian chapel on Thursday evening was largely attended and proved very interesting to all who were there, and there was a large crowd present. Dr. Rolfe is an excellent talker and well worth going to hear.

Do You Snowshoe?

If you do, you are an enthusiast, of course; if you do not, you will stand a chance of becoming an enthusiast regarding this most fascinating sport when you learn all about it, which you may do by reading the charmingly illustrated article on "Snowshoeing in the Northwest," published in the February number of Demorest's Family Magazine. Then there are many other most interesting things you may learn about through the same medium—some of the curious religious beliefs of the Hindus, how Juggernaut takes a bath, etc., which are told with words and numerous illustrations in a paper entitled "A Glance at Hinduism." "Valentines from Famous People." "Love is Blind" is a prettily told story, among the illustrations for which are examples of the various alphabets used by the blind; "At Cross Purposes" is a comedy in two acts, that could easily be produced at home; "Recitations for Children" will afford amusement for the little ones, and for their older friends as well; "An Evening's Amusement offers excellent suggestions for entertaining a house-party or any small company of guests; "Some Jolly Valentines" gives instructions for making valentines that will afford no end of fun; and—but it is impossible to give a complete list of all the good things. Every department is complete, and each succeeding number excels the one previously issued; and the Magazine is published for only $2 a year, by W. Jennings Demorest, 15 East 14th St., New York.

He Slapped a Child.

Terre Alte, W. Va., Jan. 20.—Near the Maryland line yesterday Charles Bittinger slapped a neighbor child for some trivial reason and the child's parents took out a warrant for his arrest. Bittinger ran home and took refuge in the garret, which was entered only by a small trap door. His brother-in-law, William Buchwalter came to warn him that the police were coming. Just as Buchwalter put his head through the trap Bittinger mistaking him for the constable, crushed his skull with a stone jug, killing him. Bittinger is in jail.

One Dead, Another Dying.

Pottsville, Pa., January 20—Richard Lloyd, who was stabbed in the abdomen at Minersville on Wednesday night by Anthony Desando, died of his injuries last night and David Griffiths, who was also stabbed by Desando, is in a dying condition. A post mortem examination was made of Lloyd's body and then it was taken to his home in Williamstown. Desando is in jail. He is the third Italian in the county prison for murder, one of whom, Rizutto, is to hang next month.

MEDICAL MAJOR GODS

THEY RIVAL THEIR BROTHERS OF LEGAL FAME IN FANCY FEES.

Some Enormous Incomes That Are Enjoyed by the Elect In Their Respective Professions In New York—How, In Contrast, the Common Herd Fares.

An English journalist visiting this country a few years ago said of New York that it was "a market where all desirable wares are certain to bring a fair reward for the trouble and expense of producing them." While this is as true today as it was then, there are critics who find fault with the scale of prices and give point to the old saying that it is impossible to satisfy everybody.

A reporter has investigated the subject of professional incomes received in this city, and in the course of this investigation has discovered that, if the figures cited by President Harper are accurate, his college professors are doing quite as well as the average lawyer, doctor and clergyman in New York. He states that in 61 colleges having from 60 to 250 students, the salaries of the most highly paid professors average about $1,900, and that in colleges having more than 250 students the average is $1,916.

The average business man who makes 8 per cent on his invested capital thinks that he is getting a very fair return for it. The capital of the professional man is his education, so that President Harper's professor receives an income about equivalent to that derived from $25,000 invested at 8 per cent. Many doctors and lawyers have confessed to the reporter that they would be glad to feel sure of realizing that profit as the result of a year's labor.

During the last 30 or 40 years the rate of compensation for the heaviest cases of work in the three learned professions has greatly increased. Before the war the lawyer who received a fee of $2,000, $3,000 or $5,000 was regarded as a specially lucky fellow. To-day it is a common thing for well known members of the bar to charge and obtain such sums for a particular service.

During the famous Erie litigation, brought about by the transactions of Fisk and Gould, David Dudley Field, their counsel, is said to have received a retainer of $100,000. At no time during the period when that eminent jurisconsult was at the summit of his fame and in the midst of an active practice did he derive less than $100,000 per annum from his professional labors. Mr. Evarts' income was quite as large, and Mr. Choate, his partner, is today in receipt of one that cannot be much less. While these cases are exceptional, there are, it is estimated, between 300 and 400 lawyers here whose average annual earnings will exceed $10,000.

Against these, which may be classified as cases of lawyers of exceptional talents and opportunities, are to be placed the cases of the thousands of less fortunate ones, many of whom barely manage to earn a support for themselves and their families. The law is a crowded profession, and for the man who enters it without briefs or friends an unprofitable one. According to an estimate given the reporter by a member in long practice, the average income of the New York lawyer is between $900 and $1,000.

The same conditions are to be observed in the medical profession. There, too, men of the highest attainments and reputation are earning yearly sums that half a century ago would have been regarded as a fortune. A list submitted to the reporter of physicians whose incomes exceed $20,000 contained, among others, such names as Dr. Loomis, Dr. Flint, Dr. Sayre, Dr. Satterlee, Dr. Stimson, Dr. Markoe, Dr. Peters, Dr. McBurney, Dr. Hamilton, Dr. Delafield and Dr. Weir. The list of those whose incomes are in the neighborhood of $10,000 embraces the names of nearly 200 practitioners.

Doctors like Loomis, Flint and Sayre hold the same relation to the practice of medicine that lawyers like Choate, Evarts, Carter and Field hold to the practice of law. They are the "major gods" of their profession, and their remuneration is graduated according to the public appreciation of their pre-eminent skill and talent. A physician who has been associated with Dr. Loomis in many important cases is of the opinion that his profession yields him as much as $60,000 or $70,000 a year. In former times, when a doctor had more business than he could attend to, he turned some of it over to an assistant. Although that is still done, the most popular of the leading physicians correct the excess by increasing their charges or by adopting the role of consulting physicians.

A quarter of a century back $2.50 was the usual fee for a visit. Now it is in some instances $5, in other $10 and in still other $20. When a physician who has abandoned the practice of visiting his patients and become a consulting physician makes an exception under special circumstances, he charges for a visit thus made as much as he would for a consultation. Doctors of the grade of Sayre, Stimson, Flint, Loomis and McBurney, when acting as consulting physicians, receive as high as $50, $75 and $100.

In the third or lowest grade of the profession the incomes taper down from $3,000 to a few hundreds. This of course is the most numerous grade and has the principle of the survival of the fittest as illustrated by experiences that are often positively harrowing. At the time when the passion for painting placques was most intensely developed in this city, a cynic observed that, "Of placques and doctors there is no end." He alluded to the multitude of "sawbones" yearly graduated in spite of the fact that New York has had for years more doctors than it knows what to do with. By the profession the opinion is almost unanimously entertained that the best correction of the evil is to raise the standard of qualification. Reduce the quantity and improve the quality of the supply.—New York News.

Hiring Men to Go to Brooklyn.

Pittsburg, Jan. 22.—C. S. Kinkaid, representing the Brooklyn traction railway companies, arrived in Pittsburg last evening. Mr. Kinkaid opened an employment office and this morning applicants began to arrive. Mr. Kinkaid employed an assistant, an experienced motorman, and all applicants were subjected to a rigid examination. At noon over forty experienced men had attached their names to the agreement. Mr. Kinkaid expects to send 100 men east to-night.

A CLASH OF ARMS.

Bayonets and Bullets versus Stones and Bricks in Brooklyn.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Jan. 21.—Volleys were fired and riotous mobs charged with fixed bayonets in the streets of Brooklyn to-day. New York's crack regiment, the Seventh, was attacked; stones were thrown and shots fired at the guardsmen from crowds on the pavement and by persons in windows and on roofs of houses. The troops fired several volleys over the heads of the mob. Sharp shooters were detailed and ordered to "shoot to kill" at any person seen throwing missiles or firing shots from house tops or windows. So far as known no one in the mob has been hit by shots from the troops. Numbers of people were jabbed with bayonets, but none seriously injured.

One policeman was wounded in the hand and another in the arm by bullets shot either by militiamen or persons in the crowd. Two other policemen received scalp wounds, and still another a fractured skull from missiles thrown from roof tops. One militiaman is in the hospital with a compound fracture of the skull, due to his falling to the roof of the Long Island rail road depot in an attempt to escape from the Thirteenth regiment armory, where he had been imprisoned for intoxication. All these casualities and many of a less serious nature occurred in a succession of disturbances which took place in spite of the presence of nearly 7,000 troops and 2,700 policemen.

The railroad companies made but little progress towards resuming normal traffic. All cars were stopped shortly after dark instead of being run until midnight as planned. President Lewis said that he was requested by the police to stop running after dark. The police superintendent declared that this was not so, and said that, on the contrary, the presidents notified him early that all cars would cease running at 8 o'clock.

The Brooklyn common council and the board of supervisors of Kings county adopted resolutions denouncing the railroad companies for refusing to settle the strike and calling upon the attorney general to take action to abrogate their charters.

Later—1 a. m., Jan. 22.—All is now quiet. No crowds are on the streets and no further trouble is expected to-night.

How a Great Story was Written.

The history of any great and successful undertaking is always interesting, therefore at the risk of being accused of violating personal confidence, we tell our readers of the origin of a famous story of the late war. The publishers of the Chicago Ledger wanted a story which, besides being a love story of great merit, should vividly describe the thrilling events of the battle of Gettysburg and the siege of Richmond. One author after another failed in the work, and at last the famous St. George Rathburne was approached on the subject. He demanded a fabulous price for the work, but it was paid, and the story was actually written to order. It is, however, printed under the pen name of "Hugh Allen." It is declared by critics who have been shown the advance sheets to be the best story of the war ever written. The first installment of it appeared in No. 3, Vol. xxiii of the Ledger, and at once attracted the greatest attention. A private letter from the editor informs us that in order to reach all classes of people the publishers of the Ledger will mail the opening chapter of the story free of charge to all those who send in their names at once. The Ledger is a great paper, and each week gives story matter enough to make a dollar book. Address, The CHICAGO HERALD, Chicago, Illinois.

—Mr. Landis, an old resident of near Potter's Mills, was found dead in his bed on last Monday morning. His daughter had gone to his room to call him, and was astonished to find his spirit had fled. His age was 82 years. Funeral Saturday morning, Rev. Rarick officiating.

Starving Miners.

Cumberland, Md., Jan. 20.—Anent the wail of woe that comes from far-away Nebraska, is the condition of things in the mining regions of this locality, and which is almost as pitiable. The strike of three months' duration last summer, coupled with the fact that the miners have failed to get work since, has brought about a condition of suffering that is perfectly heart-rending. Many of the men have had but one day's work this month and but eight days last month, and out of that is taken rent, fuel and doctor's bills, leaving the pay car in debt to the company. Many families are reported without a pound of anything on which to make a breakfast to-morrow morning, and unless aid is furnished these starving miners it will be impossible for them to exist through the remainder of the winter.

Babbitt, the deceased multi-millionaire soap manufacturer, left here for New York city to-day in response to a telegram informing him of the death of his unmarried aunt, sister of the soap man, who inherited great wealth from her brother, and who has now left young Babbitt $2,000,000.

The young man has been living here several years and followed the business of a traveling photographer.

Post Office Clogged.

Elgin, Ill., Jan. 20—Some time ago it was announced that by collecting 1,000,000 canceled postage stamps Miss Gorman, of Kaneville, this county, would be treated at a hospital. Friends set at work to aid her, the chain system of correspodence was employed, and stamps have poured in until from 6,000,000 to 8,000,000 have arrived. The postmaster has had to hire extra clerks, the office is clogged, and the post office department has written asking an explanation. Now it is desired that all papers publish the fact that no more stamps are wanted.

Non-assessable forever.

This company owns two gold mines located in a county which produced $40,000,000 in gold in six years. Has 45 acres of virgin land. Has 500 feet of underground work in shape of shafts and tunnels. Has ore in sight worth $100 per ton. Has assays from $25 to $1,500 per ton. Has shipped ore netting $36 per ton. Has such a small capitalization, only 300,000 shares and not 2,000,000 shares as other companies.

The company intends to sink a shaft through this rich $100 ore vein to a depth of several hundred feet, in order to be able to produce largely for the benefit of the stockholders which will get this profit in large monthly dividends. Hence the company offers a small amount of its stock at the extremely low price of 40 cents a share.

These shares are the investment on the financial market to-day and are better than Government Bonds as they will pay bigger interest.

WORK FOR LAW MAKERS.

Bills Which Were Passed By or Introduced in the House.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 17.—In the house to-day a bill was passed finally to amend the act authorizing county commissioners to rebuild bridges owned by corporations that may be or have been destroyed by ce or otherwise and abandoned by such corporations by repealing that part of the law which applies to bridges which cross rivers or streams, forming the boundary line between two counties or running between counties.

These bills were also introduced: Mr. Lemon, Allegheny, appropriating $10,000 to the Bethesda home of Pittsburg.

Mr. Riter, Philadelphia, giving the wife power to appoint guardians; limiting the duration of the lien of taxes against real estate.

Mr. Lawrence, authorizing the erection of workhouses in the several counties.

Mr. Reible, Philadelphia, for the appointment of additional moral instructors in the Eastern and Western penitentiaries

Mr. Muehlbronner, Allegheny, appropriating $15,000 to the Children's Aid society of Western Pennsylvania.

Mr. Stineman, Cambria, abolishing days of grace and providing that notes, drafts, etc., falling due on Sunday, or a legal holiday, shall be due the next business day thereafter.

Mr. Griggsby, Lawrence, repealing the act regulating the fees to be charged by justices of the peace, aldermen, magistrates and constables.

Mr. Smith, Bedford, providing that half the annual state appropriation to the schools shall be distributed on the basis of the schools in the respective districts and the other half on the basis of taxables.

Gave Himself Up.

Fall River, Mass., January 17.—John H. Blaisdell, who for some time prior to February, 1885, has been the book-keeper of the Weetamoe mills in this city, walked into the central police station to-day and announced that he desired to surrender himself. His coming was as sudden and unexpected as his departure. When he fled the town ten years ago he was, as a subsequent investigation showed, a defaulter to the amount of $40,000 which the stockholders of the Weetamoe mills have had to stand.

He declined to talk to reporters to-day or to explain his motive for coming here and surrendering himself. Some of the directors of the mills, however, say that he is desirous of having the indictment nolle prossed; that he is tired of living the life he has for the past ten years and prefers to take any risk in order to be at home once more.

Favor Granted to Debs.

Washington, Jan. 17.—In the Unted States Supreme court to-day, Chief Justice Fuller announced the court's decision upon the petition of Eugene V. Debs and the other imprisoned directors of the American Railway union for a writ of error from the seutence imposed by Judge Woods in the United States Circuit court at Chicago. The decision was that a writ of error could not be issued, but the Chief Justice also announced that the petition of the prisoners for leave to file a motion for a writ of habeas corpus was granted, and a rule was issued, which was made returnable on Monday, January 28.

Attorney Darrow, speaking for Debs and his associates, said this afternoon that if Attorney General Olney should tomorrow ask for an extension of the date, he (Mr. Darrow) would ask that the prisoners be admitted to bail to await the action of the court.

Army Training for Boys.

New York. Jan. 17.—The movement for thorough military instruction in schools is to have a national boom on Jan. 25, when the Governors of New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and Rhode Island, and probably of Massachusetts six ex-Governors, Gen. Nelson Miles and probably ex-President Harrison, will meet in conference in this city to consult with a committee of Lafayette Post on the subject. The conference will have legal advice of Joseph H. Choate and Chauncey M. Depew, as to what legislation, national State and municipal, should be advised to bring about the general instruction it is aimed to secure in public schools, State colleges and universities, under State or Federal supervision.

Killed on the Railroad.

Beaver, Pa., Jan. 17.—Samuel M. Kane manager of the Rochester Tumbler works, and a director of the First National bank, of Rochester, was struck by the limited express on the Fort Wayne railroad this morning and instantly killed. He was driving from the works to his house, when his horse became unmanageable and rushed upon the railroad track in front of the locomotive. The horse was also killed and the buggy was smashed to splinters. Mr. Kane was one of Rochester's wealthiest and most influential citizens and prominent in Masonic circles. He leaves a wife, but no children.

Grange Meeting.

The first meeting of the Centre County Pomono Grange No. 13, for the new year will be held in the Hall of Progress Grange, Centre Hall, on Friday, January 25th, 10 a. m. Business of unusual interest will be considered and acted upon, and it is very desirable every Grange should be represented.

CITIZENS ARE EXCITED.

Brooklyn, January 17.—The great trolley strike is still on, but there are indications that it will soon be ended. One company, that which operated the DeKalb line, came to terms with its men and its cars were in full operation to-day. Another company, that which operates the Williamsburg lines, opened negotiations with its employees through the state board of arbitration and an early settlement is expected. This much the men have gained. On the other hand, the companies operated the three lines which were opened yesterday. The Flatbush, Fifth avenue, and the Court street lines and added the Putman avenue and Halsey street line to the list. Cars were run on the last line under great difficulties from 12:30 p. m. until 5 o'clock, when it was thought best to stop them as the mob of over 1,000 persons surrounded the company's stables. Not a car was moved in the eastern part of the city. Some forty lines are still tied up, and at night cars were stopped on all lines except the DeKalb avenue and Jay street lines, which were only lines operated without police protection throughout the day. There were more instances of interference with the cars by strikers and their friends than any day since Monday, and the police had their hands full. Cars were held up, windows smashed and green motormen and conductors assaulted. The police used their clubs freely and captured half a dozen men and one woman from the mobs of stone throwers.

Mayor Schiren was appealed to by the executive committee representing the strikers, and asked to compel the companies to operate their roads or forfeit their charters. He heard their case, sent for the corporation counesl and summoned President Lewis and Norton. After a conference with them, in which they refused to make any concessions to their striking employees, and refused to sign any agreement whatever with a labor organization, the mayor said that he had not accomplished anything, but would devote his energies to finding some way of settling the strike in the interest of the public.

This evening a mass meeting of citizens called by the Fulton street merchants, whose business is seriously affected by the strike, was held at the Athenæum, and the action of the railroad companies in refusing to make terms with their employees was denounced.

Pension Bill Passed.

Washington, D.C., Jan. 17.—In presenting a report on the pension bill in the senate to-day, Mr. Gallinger took occasion to criticise severely the past utterances of Mr. Cleveland as to the frauds existing in the pension system. The senator said pension examiners were roaming around the country seeking frauds which did not exist. This plan of prying and detective work should be stopped at once.

Mr. Quay said that he had found business at the pension office dispatched quite as effectively as it had been under previous administrations.

The pension bill appropriating $141,000,000 was passed with two important amendments, one making $6 the lowest rate for pension disability, and another repealing the present law cutting off the pensions of non-residents. It was stated during the debate that the $6 amendment would increase pension expenditures not exceeding $1,000,000.

Captured the Ghost.

South Bethlehem, Pa., Jan. 17.—For some time past the women folks of a part of the town just west of the Lehigh university grounds have been terrorized by the occasional appearance on the streets of a "ghost." Attempts have been made to catch it, but were fruitless. For several nights past the "ghost" has made its appearance on Vine street, a thoroughfare lined with houses in which students of the Lehigh university room. Several residents of the street who had kept watch last night chased the figure, which ran into one of the houses. They caught it and it proved to be a student. He wore a long white night shirt, a gray beard and a wig and a mask. He was warned that if he was caught again he would be tarred and feathered.

Miners' Committee is Powerless.

Pittsburg, Jan. 17.—To-day President Cairns, of the Coal Miners' union, issued an official communication, in which he states that the committee appointed at the recent miners' convention to secure another conference with the operators, and, if possible, an arbitration of the wage scale differences, are powerless to proceed further, as they are unable to secure the support and co-operation of the operators. The communication charges the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal company with being principally responsible for the present demoralized condition of the coal trade.

Property Transferred.

Saturday all the property of the late Ed. Graham was offered at Orphans Court sale at the court house. There were a number of bidders but the most successful one was George VanTries, who purchased the property on Linn street now occupied by ex-Sheriff W. A. Ishler. This is one of the finest located properties in Bellefonte, and with a little repairing it can be made a very cosy and pleasant domicile. The rest of the property was bought in by the heirs.

The Death Of An Aged Woman.

Tuesday morning the vicinity of Zion, was surprised at the announcement of the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Gephart, which had occurred during the hours of the night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. David Wise, at the old Gephart homestead near Zion.

She retired Monday evening in her usual health, but during the night her apparent illness aroused the other inmates of the house and to their inquiries she replied. "I have a pain in my head" then she said: "Be good, I want to meet you in heaven" and died. Deceased was the widow of Henry Gephart, who died twenty-eight years ago and was among the first settlers in that vicinity. She was 92 years of age and until within the last year could read and sew easily without the use of glasses. She has been a member of the Evangelical church for sixty-five years and was a woman whose life was a beautiful one in its christianity.

Several years ago a family reunion was held at the old homestead where five generations were represented. Her children surviving from a family of thirteen are: Henry and Mrs. Noah J. Stover, living in Kansas; Mrs. Henry Fiedler, Madisonburg, Mrs. James Taylor, Union county; Mrs. Wm. Scholl, Centre Hall; Mrs. Harrison Kline, of near Bellefonte; Mrs. David Wagner, Houserville; Philip of Zion; and Mrs. Wise.

Interment was made in the Zion cemetery Saturday morning.

Borough Nominations.

The time is now drawing near when the necessary nominations for borough offices must be made. There will likely be some lively contests for the various nominations and especially for councilmen. There seems to be a prevailing sentiment against the present members of council because of of their supposed extravagance, and for this reason there seems to be a prevailing sentiment to allow those whose terms expire, namely, Dr. Dartt, in the North ward; Al. S. Garman in the South, and W. T. Hillibish in the West, to retire upon "their honors fairly won" and henceforth live as retired citizens.

Of course, at least some of the outgoing councilmen will be candidates for a renomination, and the people will have the privilege of choosing from among them those who have served most faithfully. It stands to reason that there are some men in the council who have conscientiously tried to do what in their judgment seemed right and just, and if they erred in judgment it was not their fault.

The greatest fight at the election this spring will be on the poor house question. The sentiment pro and con is about even and there is likely to be a pretty big fight.

A Gay Sledding Party.

On Thursday evening a large party of young people of Bellefonte, chaperoned by four or five married ladies, hired one of Ishler & Rightnour's large sleighs and, with four good horses hitched in front, went on a trip to the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Waddles, on Buffalo Run. The drive up was a most delightful one, the weather being quite propitious and the sleighing in an excellent condition. It is needless to say they met with a warm welcome from not only Mr. and Mrs. Waddle but also a score or more young people who were assembled in the spacious farm house. Music and dancing formed the principal amusements of the evening. Of course time was taken to partake of a supper the sumptuousness of which made the table fairly groan with the weight of good things upon it. After wishing their kind host and hostess a life of many more delightful winters the party returned home, arriving here about three o'clock this morning.

Man, Poor Man.

A bachelor says: "Man that is married to a woman is of many days and full of trouble. In the morning he draws his salary, and in the evening behold it is gone; it goeth but he knoweth not where. He spendeth sheckels in the purchase of fine linens to cover the bosom of his family, yet he is seen at the gate of the city with but one suspender. He goeth forth as an ox or ass and draweth the chariot of his offspring. He arises clad in the chilly garments of the night, and seeketh the somnambulent paregoric, which healeth the colicy stomach of his offspring. Yea, he is altogether wretched and full of misery. Wide is the road and broad is the way that leadeth to matrimony, and many there be that go in thereat."

The Bellefonte Minstrels.

Don't forget that the Bellefonte minstrels will appear in Garman's opera house, on Friday evening, January 25th. The young men have been practicing three or four nights in the week so that the music, jokes and dances will all be new, catchy and novel. There can be no question but no question but that it will be one of the finest entertainments given in Bellefonte this winter. It will be a benefit for the Y. M. C. A., and the people of this community should contribute to the cause by purchasing a ticket and crowding the opera house.

Local Institute.

A local teachers' institute will be held at Pine Grove Mills on Friday and Saturday evening, Jan. 25th and 26th. A large program has been printed and distributed through the district and from all indications it is going to be a great success. The public is cordially invited to attend. A number of prominent instructors will be present and give the teachers some valuable information.

The Howard Church Case.

The supreme court, on the 12th inst., discharged the rule to show cause why the proceedings to regain possession of the Disciple church at Howard, Pa., should not be stayed, etc. This order puts the case in the same position it was before the rule to show cause, etc., was granted by Justice Dean on the 18th of August last upon application of the respondents.

This is one of the celebrated Centre county cross-fire cases—wherein the Court rendered a decision in favor of the Long-Lucas people and the Associate Judges, Riley and Faulkner, decided in favor of the Harvey-Gardner people. The former issued a writ to take possession of the church, thereby throwing out the Harvey party. These writs were stayed, however, by Justice Dean, but the order of the 12th inst., releases the order of Judge Dean, and if the sheriff is disposed he can now go ahead and chuck out the Harvey party.

The Harvey-Gardner party have appealed the whole case to the supreme court upon its merits, and should the appeal be sustained when heard in April next the Long-Lucas party lose. The sheriff would throw out the Harvey party at his peril, especially if the decree of Judge Furst should be set aside.

An Angry Woodsman.

An intoxicated woodsman named Patrick O'Brien was wandering wearily along the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg track Sunday evening a few miles south of Ridgway, tells the Bradford Era. Mr. O'Brien was carrying a heavy Elk county jag, and never heard the rumbling of a train that was following him. The train was not going rapidly, but it overtook him just the same, and tossed him into a snow drift some distance from a track. The train was stopped at once and Conductor Morrill investigated. He asked O'Brien as to whether he had been killed or not, and was assured that no fatal accident had occured. On the contrary O'Brien was very much alive and said he could lick the man that t'rew him down. "I wuz goin' along mindin' my own business," he exclaimed, "an' somebody smashed me wid a pick handle an' knocked me down. Show me de man an' I'll break his jaw.

To Electrocute Murderers.

A bill was introduced in the Pennsylvania house yesterday by Mr. Cotton, of Allegheny, providing for the execution of criminals by electricity. The proposed act relieved sheriffs from the infliction of the death penalty and places the execution in penitentiaries under the direction of the wardens. It is practically the same as the New York law, except that newspapermen are allowed to witness the execution, and has been approved by sheriffs, humanitarians and all others in the state who desire that such execution shall take place with as few revolting surroundings as possible.

A Curious Affair.

Irwin Standard: A most curious affair recently occurred at Fort Howard. A married woman of that city and her married daughter resides in the same house resides in the same house, and one day last week both gave birth to baby boys of about the same complexion, size and weight. A few neighbors were in soon after, and in passing the babies around for inspection they became mixed, and now the mothers will never know whether they brought up their own child or not. The mothers don't care so much, but the fathers insist the dilemma is serious.

Debs May Be Released.

Washington, Jan. 18.—When the United States Supreme court met this morning Assistant Attorney General Whitney announced that he and Mr. Darrow, counsel for Debs, and the other imprisoned directors of the American Railway union, had agreed that the rule in their case should be made returnable on March 25, and that in meantime they should be released in $2,500 bail each. Chief Justice Fuller said that the case was one of so much importance that the court would have to take the proposition under advisement.

Three Murders and a Suicide.

Fairmont, Minn., Jan. 18.—Last night Samuel Hotelling went to the house of T. B. Whitney, his father-in-law, to talk to his wife, who had left him and was living with her parents. He shot and killed Mr. and Mrs. Whitney and Mrs. Hotelling. Then he fled to his own house, and when the sheriff's posse besieged him he kept them at bay until morning. Just after daylight they fired upon him, riddling his house with bullets. Then they entered and found that he had killed himself. He was armed with a Winchester rifle and a revolver.

She Was One of His Pupils.

Patriot: The first Harrisburg lady to extend congratulations to Governor Hastings at the reception at the executive mansion on Tuesday evening was one of his pupils when he was principal of the Bellefonte high school. She is Miss Elizabeth Forster, of North Second street, daughter of Major Forster, of the department of internal affairs.

The managers of the Huntingdon reformatory have decided to charge visitors 15 cents admission on and after the 1st of next February, the money to be devoted to keeping up the prisoners' library. There are probably some people who will question the right of the managers to charge admission to that institution.

Canada Thistles.

For some years past great efforts have been made to exterminate the farmers pest-Canada thistles but without success. Mr. Philip Cryder, who owns the best farm in Centre county, utterly destroys them by plowing them under in the fall. In the spring he works the ground again and then sows it in buckwheat. When the buckwheat gets in blossom he plows it under and in the fall he sows the spot in wheat and that puts to death the thistle

THE WORLD will feel the utmost amazement at the resignation of the President of the French Republic, which is certainly one of the most remarkable events in the history of that country. This surprising action of M. Casimir-Perier is little less than a political catastrophe for France, for while there can be no doubt that parliamentary prerogative is, as he says, in danger, his own retreat under fire can only give encouragement to all factions, and draw attention to the instability of France's present institutions.

In strong contrast with the ex-President's pessimism is M. Dupuy's readiness ty stop the gap. It is obviously very lucky that there is not at the moment any pretender offering. Paris is very naturally in consternation at the situation, whose outcome must at the best be a renewed difficulty of governing France through the present parliamentary forms—already near enough to government by crisis.

—On Thursday evening Mr. Paul Shaffer met with a painful accident while out coasting. He was on one sled and when near the end of the run saw another sled loaded with ladies and young men standing right in the way and that a collision was imminent. To save them from injury Paul jumped to get the sled out of the way, and in some way slipped and fell, spraining his ankle badly. The injury will necessitate his staying indoors for a few days, but his act was an heroic one.

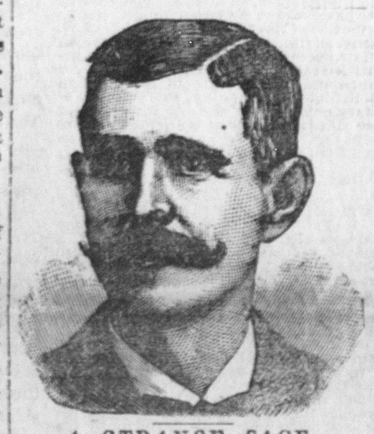
Twelve Golden Rules.

Hold integrity sacred.
Endure trials patiently.
Be prompt in all things.
Make good acquaintances.
Shun the company of loafers.
Watch carefully over your temper.
Never be afraid of being laughed at.
Fight life's battle manfully, bravely.
Use your leisure moments for study.
Sacrifice money rather than principle.
Dare to do right and fear to do wrong.

—Centre county is represented in the Western penitentiary by 14 prisoners, and is credited for their labor, for the last year $210,76, at 35 cents per day and forwards a bill for payment of $843.80, being balance of cost for keeping them over their earnings.



A STRANGE CASE.

How an Enemy was Foiled.

The following graphic statement will be read with intense interest: "I cannot describe the numb, creepy sensation that existed in my arms, hands and legs. I had to rub and beat those parts until they were sore, to overcome in a measure the dead feeling that had taken possession of them. In addition, I had a strange weakness in my back and around my waist, together with an indescribable 'gone' feeling in my stomach. Physicians said it was creeping paralysis, from which, according to their universal conclusion, there is no relief. Once it fastens upon a person, they say, it continues its insidious progress until it reaches a vital point and the sufferer dies. Such was my prospect. I had been doctoring a year and a half steadily, but with no particular benefit, when I saw an advertisement of Dr Miles' Restorative Nervine, procured a bottle and began using it. Marvelous as it may seem, but a few days had passed before every bit of that creepy feeling had left me, and there has not been even the slightest indication of its return. I now feel as well as I ever did, and have gained ten pounds in weight, though I had run down from 170 to 137. Four others have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine on my recomendation, and it has been as satisfactory in their cases as in mine."—James Kane, La Rue, O.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs.

VIGOROUS HEALTH

THE PASTILLE CURE NERVOUS DEBILITY

Prof. HARRIS'

SOLUBLE MEDICATED Pastille

in private practice. It is no secret remedy of doubtful reputation, but a genuine specific for a very prevalent disease. Thousands of men of all ages, have at some time in life become nervous debility and exhaustion, with disease, weakness, by over brain work, accidents, or frequent indulgence or indiscretion and bad habits, and it is to these that we offer a remedy that will, by its direct action upon the seat of disease, stop the drain and restore the vigorous health and strength.

Our method of introducing Prof. Harris' treatment is one which commends itself to sensible persons—for the reason that we simply ask upon their judgment of its value. We ask from patrons nothing in the way of expensive advertising, a postal card and a two cent postage stamp. The postal card to be used in sending us their full address and the postage stamp for the latter returning the statement of their case for which we supply them with a question blank, to be filled out, and an envelope addressed to ourselves for use in returning it when filled.

FREE TRIAL PACKAGE.

When we receive the statement on blank we prepare eight days' treatment and forward it by mail and prepay postage thereon—and along with the eight days' treatment we send full directions for using. The treatment in no way interferes with a person's attention to business, and causes no pain or inconvenience in any way.

We are so positive that it will give perfect satisfaction that we leave to the matter of remuneration entirely with those using the free trial treatment. Having satisfied those sending for trial package of our ability to benefit their sexual condition we feel that they are more largely interested than ourselves in continuing the use of the Pastilles. Even then we do not attempt to rob them by demanding high prices. On the contrary, we make the prices as low as possible, and the same to all. They are as follows: $3 for one month; $5 for two months; $7 for three months.

These prices secure the delivery of the Pastilles by mail. If desired by express we leave the patient to pay the charges. For over ten years we have operated our business upon this plan with satisfactory results.

We ask all persons needing treatment for any of the secret ills which come to mankind through a violation of nature's laws to send us their address on postal card or by letter and allow us to convince them that PROF. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED PASTILLES have merit and are what they need.

Sousa on Popular Music.

"It's all humbug for a man to turn up his nose at popular music," said Sousa to a reporter.

"All music is good when treated well. There is a piece of music we play 'The Critic's Dream.' I should like any one to hear that before condemning popular music."

"Is it such a beautiful example of the popular style," was asked.

"It is a common little melody—'Annie Rooney' of the kind that you hear on hand-organs," replied Mr. Sousa, smiling. 'But the man who wrote 'The Critics' Dream' has got it up just as Wagner and Beethoven would have arranged it orchestrally. He has treated the little theme classically, and though it is a popular melody, it would be absurd for critics to turn up their musical noses at it."

The bandmaster did not wait to give a definition of a musical nose, for he was evidently started on a pet subject, and went on without a pause saying: "Look at the 'Meistersinger.' No one would accuse Wagner of being unclassical when he wrote it, and yet one of the leading melodies of the opera is, 'Where did you get that hat?' I mean what I say, and if any one doubts it let him look through the score; he will find it. There is a theme in 'Lohengrin' that 'Oh! what a difference in the morning' is almost identical with, and though people do not accuse Gounod of being especially popular, the 'Soldiers' Chorus' from 'Faust' has caught on immensely to the words, 'Oh, my, we'll never get drunk any more.'

"Now, you can take a catchy little tune like 'Daisy Bell' and treat it as you would a child of the slums—wash its face, put on it a new frock, and it is found to have lost its identity, just as the catchy air, if you treat it classically, loses its identity."

"And the new opera which you are expected to be writing," asked the reporter, "is it treated classically?"

"No; it is very, very comic," replied Mr. Sousa. "At least my librettist and I think so, though we do not know whether a long-suffering public will agree with us. It is called 'El Capitan,' and will be produced in New York. Beyond that I can say nothing, except that I hope to finish it here."

Cow Boy Student.

Among the curiosities, at State College, this season, is a young chap from Texas who seems proud of his nativity and evidently takes pride in impressing his "Cowboy" manners upon his fellow students. It was not an uncommon thing to see this representative of the Lone Star State parading about the campus in true cowboy style. A large sombrero was on his head while he carried a brace of threatening revolvers in a leather belt about his waist and his other garments were consistent with that of a "Terror" from the plains.

One night recently the boys were out looking after freshmen and introducing them, according to the time honored custom, into the mysteries of College life. This process is more commonly known as hazing. When they came to the Texan's door it was locked and they were notified from the inside that he was not receiving callers that evening, also warned them not to intrude as the consequences might be severe.

A brief consultation was held, then a rush and a boost, and in went the door and the gang of hazers. A surprise was in store. Mr. Cowboy was sitting by his table with a brace of revolvers in hand. The intruders were politely invited to sit down, about the room, but no one should attempt any familiarities if they placed any value on their. The boys accepted the invitation, and advice as well. They entertained their host with ringing college songs and jokes until he truly thought they were not intent upon any evil.

At an unguarded moment one of the boys leaped upon the Texan's back, others relieving him of his weapons and in a short time he was put through a course of sprouts that was truly humiliating to this terror of the plains.

The Lone Star from Texas had to take his medicine like every other ordinary fellow, and is a wiser man for it.

Cyclers Will Not Pay Toll.

The case brought by A. J. Geiger, president of the Penn wheelmen against the Reading and Pirklomen turnpike company to determine the right of the company to charge tolls for bicycles, judgment was entered in favor of the plaintiff for five cents Judge Endlich in his opinion says there is no authority for charging tolls upon any species of vehicles not drawn by an animal, but propelled by human agency alone.

The bills providing for additional law judges in Westmoreland and Washington counties have been affirmatively reported from the judiciary general committee of the house.

Fire Insurance Election.

The annual election of 12 directors for the Farmers' Mut. Fire Insurance Co. of Center Co., was held on Monday at the hotel in Centre Hall. The attendance was larger than usual. The annual report makes one of the best and most encouraging exhibits for the company and its management.

Samuel Gramley and Daniel Brungart, of Miles; Maj. J. B. Fisher and H. B. Herring, of Gregg; Jacob Bottorf, of College; Fred Kurtz, of Centre Hall; W. Fred Reynolds, of Bellefonte; J. G. Bailey and H. B. Campbell, of Ferguson; Frank McFarlane, of Harris; J. H. Musser, of Haines; and Jas. C. Smith, of Millheim.

The board organized by electing the following officers:

President, Fred. Kurtz.
Vice President, H. B. Herring.
Treasurer. James C. Boal.
Secretary, D. F. Luce.

How Troubles Are Divided.

Troubles are pretty evenly divided after all.

A girl may go nearly distracted when she feels that the band of her dress skirt has come unfastened, but think of the misery of the man when the buttonhole in the neckband of his shirt rips open and lets his collar and necktie slide up to his ears.

A girl has heaps of trouble with her complexion and her front hair, but she doesn't have to have a razor go traveling over her face every day.

A girl is very likely to spend weeks in planning the construction of a new hat but when she does get it people don't sit on it, as they always do on men's head gear. Perhaps that's because a girl doesn't leave her hat lying around on sofas and chairs.

Bits of Consolation.

God's way of helping is to help us to help ourselves.

A lazy man is always talking about how hard he has to work.

Keep your light shining and God will put it where it can be seen.

You can tell by the flavor of the honey where the bees have been.

The world looks at what a man does but God looks at what he means.

Nine troubles out of ten will run when you look them squarely in the face

People who are willing to work for the Lord are never kept waiting longing for an opportunity.

God has nowhere promised to protect any man while he stands on the devil's ground.

A Very Large Feeder.

Gazette and Bulletin: It is said that there is a man living at or near Trout run by the name of Leonard, who ate at one sitting a whole ham of medium size, five dozen raw eggs, a pound and a half of cookies, a sack of peanuts and a lot of candy. And after all that he said he was afraid he would be hungry again in an hour or two and if another kind person pay for a fresh supply of eatables he would add them to what he had already put away and feel more comfortable. His request was not complied with. Leonard, who is very large in statue, carries the nickname of "Jumbo."

State College Appropriations.

Harrisburg, Jan. 18.—Representative Lawrence, of Washington, thinks the Pennsylvania State college, in Center county, has been too highly favored in State appropriations in comparison with other educational institutions in Pennsylvania and has asked the State Treasurer to furnish a statements showing the aggregate amount the college has received since its establishment. Washington and Jefferson college, he says, had made more judges and ministers than any college in the State, and has never received a cent from it.

ECZEMA

From early childhood until I was grown my family spent a fortune trying to cure me of this disease. I visited Hot Springs, and was treated by the best medical men, but was not benefited. When all things had failed I determined to try S. S. S., and in four months was entirely cured. The terrible Eczema was gone, not a sign of it left; my general health built up, and I have never had any return of the disease. I have since recommended CHILDHOOD S. S. S. to a number of friends for skin diseases, and have never yet known a failure to cure. GEO. W. IRWIN, Irwin, Pa.

Christ Will Come in April, 1901.

An English scriptural prophet, figuring from the writings of Daniel, and the book of Revelations, gives the following as the coming "prophetic events" which will take place between January 1, 1895, and April 1901, the date he has set for the end of the world. If the first is fulfilled you had better make arrangements to square accounts by All Fool's Day in the year last above named:

Ascension of 144,000 living Christians to heaven without dying on March 5, 1896.

A scion of Napoleon will massacre 10,000 Christians between August 14, 1897, and January 26, 1901.

Christ will descend to earth, and the millennium began the first week of April, 1901.

A Sharp Dodge.

For the following the Corry Flyer is responsible: A Pennsylvania railroad official recently uncovered quite a scheme which a Corry merchant had, in the way of cheap transportation. A certain dry goods firm had a store here and another one in Sheffield. The brother in Corry had a railroad ticket to Sheffield and the brother in Sheffield has a railroad ticket to Corry. Whenever they wanted to ship any goods from one store to the other they packed them in a trunk and sent the trunk to the station, presented the check and got the trunk checked, then slipped the check into an envelope and put that in the mail car.

Local Department.

—The "Black Crook" January 29th in the opera house.

—The Bellefonte Consolidated Aggregation of "Colored" Minstrels Friday evening in the opera house. You can see them for a ½ a $.

—J. Snavely, of Centre Hall, has been granted a patent on a corn planter, and C. Guyer, Tyrone, on a shingle marker.

—Representative Lawrence, of Washington county, thinks the State College too highly favored with state appropriations. If Mr. Lawrence could visit the College he might change his attitude.

—The Pennsylvania railroad is making great war on the people who borrow and those who lend passes. So, if you would avoid trouble, neither lend your pass if you have one, nor try to borrow one from a friend.

—Word received from Howard this morning is in effect that Charles Lucas is not as seriously injured as it was at first supposed. The attending physician says it will not be necessary to amputate either of his limbs.

—A bill will be introduced in the State Senate, this session, to compel the teaching of music in the public schools. For several years there has been developing a strong movement in that direction and the friends of the project will keep steadily at it until their hopes are realized.

—Mr. Will Flack has opened a barber shop on Bishop street, next door to Brown's furniture store. Will is a good barber and as he has chosen a good location, will undoubtedly meet with success, and he deserves it.

—Sunday morning the thermometer registered eight degrees below zero again. Truly we are having quite a winter of it, as the oldest inhabitant declares it to be the longest cold spell and greatest fall of snow in twenty-five years.

—Roller skating is kind of out of date, especially when there is such good coasting as there is now and so much ice to skate on. This fact was demonstrated by the not overly large crowd present in the armory Saturday evening.

—Don't fail to buy your tickets for the Bellefonte minstrel entertainment in the opera house Friday evening. It will be extraordinarily fine and should draw a large house. Full band and orchestra. Watch for the street parade at noon.

—Dr. Rolfe will deliver his third lecture in the University Extension course in the Presbyterian chapel Thursday evening, January 24th. The subject on this occasion will be "Thackeray." These lectures are proving exceedingly interesting and beneficial and should be taken advantage of by a larger number of people.

—It seems hardly possible, but nevertheless it is true, that on an average every fifty-fifth person you meet wears W. L. Douglas Shoes. Did you ever realize what an immense undertaking it is to supply one article of wearing apparel to over one million people.

—The Y. M. C. A. is a good organization and needs encouragement. It needs help, and you can help it. The minstrel entertainment Friday evening is for the benefit of the Association; buy a ticket, help the benefit and be benefited by watching the Bellefonte boys play the "phool" to perfection.

—A citizen of Altoona recently took $110 in ten and twenty-dollar gold pieces to one of the city banks for deposit. The coin was very much soiled and the bank officials declined to receive it, believing it to be spurious. The owner, knowing it to be good, took it to a jeweler and had it polished, when he had no trouble in getting the bankers to receive it.

—Every newspaper man will appreciate the following from an eastern journal if no one else does: "Get your printing done where you please—it's your right—but please do not, after spending your money elsewhere, come to our office begging free local notices. It isn't business—it isn't decent. Besides, it's very cheeky."

—The following tribute to Winter is of unknown origin: "It blows and it snows and stings your nose—makes all creation shiver; it bites your toes, increases your woes and freezes up the river. The frost nips all, both great and small, this dismal dreary Winter; it freezes types, it bursts the pipes, and vexes sore the printer. So let her roll—we mean the coal—it takes the cash in Winter; so please be kind and make up your mind to settle with the printer."

—Happiness may come through a variety of channels. In the long course of man's life it is necessary to find more than one spring from which the crystal stream of pleasure may flow. From physical nature may be derived a pleasure as intense and in its place as beneficent as any other. Most of us have troubles to contend with, but, if rightly regulated, our lives should be sweetened by a preponderance of pleasure. Health of body and cultured mind, with perfect liberty, should make all men happy.

WILLIAM RESIDES KILLED.

Struck by the Train Near Curtin Monday Evening.

William Resides, a farmer of Union township, met a sudden and tragic death on Monday evening while walking on the railroad just west of Curtin station. He was crossing the tressle work and it is not known why he failed to get out of the way of the Day Express from Tyrone, due there at 5.10 o'clock, but he failed to do so and the engineer in charge of the train, when he saw the old gentleman was not getting out of the way, was unable to stop, and the engine struck Mr. Resides fair in the breast knocking him fully sixty feet over the tressle and into the creek.

The train was at once stopped and several gentlemen went into the water and recovered the body but life was extinct, and it is the belief that the man never knew a thing after he was hit by the train. The body was taken to Curtin station and from there taken to Unionville on the 5.14 train west.

Mr. Resides was aged about 65 years and leaves a wife and eight children to mourn his untimely death. The names of the children are Rachael, Calvin M., Samantha, Owen, Elwood, Sarah K., Rachael and Norman. Deceased had been down the valley and had come west as far as Curtin on Express. There he got his dinner and remained until near evening when he started to walk to Milesburg, and had gotten but a short distance on his journey when he met his tragic death.

Arrangements for the funeral are not yet completed.

No Wonder They Envy Us.

Bellefonte and Bellefonters have long been the envy of every other town and citizen in Pennsylvania. It is the prevailing opinion that something in the atmosphere of these mountains and hills, or else in the pure spring water we drink and bathe in, or else in the—no, we are too much of a temperance advocate to mention the several brands of Centre county whisky, but we might mention Strayer's "soft drinks" and Achenbach's and Ceader's ice cream—is conducive to the growing of great men and charming ladies. Every real, genuine Bellefonte lady is always charming and the prettiest in the world, and as for the men, why we grow them here to fill every position and sphere in life from the Presidential chair down to a dungeon in the penitentiary—and plenty of them, too; that is plenty of them for Presidents, Governors, statesmen, etc. Why there is hardly an event of any importance transpires anywhere but there is a Bellefonter in it. And that is why we are envied. But now, that we again have the governor in Harrisburg it might seem as if the outside world would smother their jealousy for a time, at least. But such is not the case. They envied us our Curtin, our Beaver and our Hastings and now they envy us our snow and cold weather, our favorable location for a "greater Bellefonte," and if they only knew it they would envy us of our hills, the best toboggan slides in the world down which hundreds of noble lads and fair lassies go gliding like the wind every night; and last, but by no means the least they would be extremely jealous of our Collossal Consolidated Aggregation of Bellefonte Minstrelsy, with their premium band and orchestra, incomparable and unapproachable "middle man," ten or a dozen irresistibly funny "end men," a whole host of "attractions," such as can not be seen even in Barnum's circus, and a great many etc., etc., etc's. This can be seen in Garman's opera house Friday evening when they will appear for the benefit of the Young Men's Christian Association. A prize is to be awarded to the man or woman who can sit through the entire performance without laughing.

Installation of Officers.

Woman's Relief Corps, No. 3, of Milesburg, held a public installation recently at which the following officers were inducted into office:

President, Kate Strong; S. V. Pres., Jennie Vaughn; J. V. Pres., Mary Crossmire; Chaplain, Jennie Shultz; Conductor, Etta Grassmire; Asst. Con., Mary McColum; Treas., Annie Stonerode; Sec'y, Sarah McKinley; Guard, Annie Bronwell; Asst. Guard, Lucy Watson.

The services were conducted in a very able and efficient manner. Commander P. H. Haupt, the installing officer, did credit to himself and honor to the W. R. C. in the manner in which he performed the business. He was also ably assisted by Mrs. S. E. Shultz, of Lock Haven, she acting as Conductor. Mrs. Shultz is one of the inspectors of the W. R. C's and inspected the Corps in the afternoon, the same presenting a very creditable showing. At the conclusion of the installation services a campfire was lighted and a good time was had. Speeches were made by Comrades of Post 261, and ladies of the W. R. C., No. 3. The time passed pleasantly for an hour, as it always does in the presence of the ladies. Following this, and as a close to the evening's ceremonies, a banquet was served in the post room. And there is where the old comrades got in their work, every one saying, "it was good to be there." The ladies of W. R. C., No. 3, are like the comrades of Post 261, they never do things by halves.

To Make Another District.

In the United States senate yesterday Mr. Quay introduced a bill providing for the creation for United States judicial purpose of the northern judicial diitrict of Pennsylvania, to be composed of the counties of Wayne, Pike and Monroe detached from the eastern district and the counties of Susquehanna, Lackawanna, Luzerne, Columbia, Northumberland, Montour, Lycoming, Sullivan, Bradford, Potter, Tioga, Wyoming, Clinton, Union, Snyder Centre and Cameron detached from the Western district.

Vast Disproportion.

Carefully prepared statistics show that there were 9,800 homicides in this country last year, and only 132 legal hangings. In 1891 there were 5,909 of the former, so that the increase is out of all proportion to the growth of the population. It is not the fault of the character of the penalty for murder that this crime is increasing so greatly, but rather the fault of a lack of execution of the penalty. Sentimental prejudice against the carrying out of capital punishment and the readiness with which lawyers resort to all possible technicalities by which murderers can be saved from the gallows have helped to stay, and often to prevent, the execution of justice.

Not only, too, is murder increasing, but it is being invested with unusually repellant features. The mercenary motive predominates in many cases and the prepetrators make their arrangements as coolly as if they were about to seize upon a piece of real estate instead of to take a human life. Avarice seems to have destroyed conscience to a great extent and insane eagerness to be rich has smoothered the best instincts of humanity. Imprisonment for life has often been urged as a substitute for hanging, but for the ordinary murderer it has no terrors. To be housed and warmed and well fed at the expense of the state brings happiness to the mind of the criminal.

To-day there are in our prisons hundreds of muderers who are treated as no more to be abhorred than the most commonplace thief who is in the same institution. No person knows when the official power will be evoked to save the murderer from the gallows or open the prison doors and send him out as a menace to society. The emotionalism which has made the gallows hideous has undoubtedly had an influence in destroying the sanctity which human life possesses.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

PERSONAL PENCILINGS.

Judge John G. Love, who had been on the sick list for a few days, is now able to again be around and about attending to his official duties.

Mr. H. C. Quigley is now keeping bachelor's hall in the Hastings' mansion on Allegheny street. It is quite evident, however, that Henry will not live alone a very great length of time.

Mr. Charles Moore returned on Monday evening from DuBois with his bride and the two at once went to their future residence, the house on Lamb street recently vacated by Mr. Charles Tripple, where friends had in waiting a most elaborate supper.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cowdrick, lately of Johnstown, spent Sunday in Bellefonte the guests of friends. Will has purchased himself a nice home at Niagara Falls, and has gone there with the intention of opening up a brick works and launching out on his own hook as a contractor. We wish him unlimited success.

A Happy Treasurer.

The auditors of Indiana county, in making a settlement with the treasurer, brought him out in debt to the county in the amount of almost $3,000. Of course he was dissatisfied and could not understand how it was brought about; accordingly he employed an expert book-keeper, who began at the beginning and finished up to the end. In going over the amounts he found that instead of the treasurer owing the county a large sum, the county was indebted to the treasurer more than $800.

—Quite a gay social party was held by a number of Bellefonte ladies and gentlemen at the home of Mrs. Frank Bosch, Spring Creek, Tuesday night.

COUNCIL MEETING.

What the Borough Fathers Done Monday Night.

Council meeting convened Monday evening with members Miller, Williams, Hillibish, Brockerhoff, Bush and Garman present. Clerk Isaac Mitchell read the minutes of the previous session which were approved as read.

Mrs. Jacob Valentine made complaint regarding the street commissioner cleaning pavement.

The Street committee reported the stone all broken for Curtin street. The principal work done during the past two weeks was keeping the snow off the pavements.

The Water committee no outside work being done but the pumps running night and day. They recommended that an addition of a three foot wall be placed on the reservoir, thus giving it an additional capacity of 109,687 gallons, about one-third more then at present.

The Nuisance and Finance committees had no reports to offer.

The Street committee made a a special report on the Lamb street bridge. They recommended a bridge 120 feet long with a sidewalk for foot passengers on one side. Mr. Frank Adams, representing the county commissioners, reported that they would erect the frame work if the borough would build the abutments. The Street committee was authorized to meet the commissioners and arrange as to plans, etc.

Mr. H. C. Quigley, Secretary of the Board of Health, submitted his report for the past year and asked for an order for $32,50 to balance the Board's account. The request was granted. William Shortridge's term as a member of the Board of Health having expired, he was reappointed by President Miller and confirmed by a vote of council.

It was recommeded that an incandescent light be placed in front of "Tammany Hall" in the South ward.

A motion by Mr. Hillibish that an ordinance be prepared opening South Potter street was passed, and the same will receive immediate attention.

The business being concluded the following bills were approved and council adjourned:

Logan Machine Works	$7.60
McCalmont & Co. breaking stone	226.09
Street pay roll	40.08
Water pay roll and hauling coal	74.41
Police pay roll	35.00
R. V. Miller, Curtin street	131.68
R. J. Schad & Bro.	3.08
Board of Health	32.50
Total Amount	$550.42

Half Fare for Clergymen.

Clergymen over the state have been guessing for three months whether they would ride on the Pennsylvania lines during the present year on half fare. The passenger department, after a temporary check caused by the action of the Central Traffic association with reference to the matter, is again issuing half fare orders to clergymen good for the remainder of the year. The lines are drawn somewhat tighter than heretofore, however, only ordained ministers being extended the courtesy of half fare orders. On some of the eastern roads the issue of the clerical order is to be abolished. The reason for this is that the managers have found that the courtesy has been grossly abused. Unscrupulous persons have managed to obtain orders under false pretense and have afterward sold them to scalpers.

Judge Love all Right.

A dispatch from Harrisburg says: The dispatchisent out from Bellefonte stating that there is some question in the minds of lawyers whether Judge Love can preside over all the courts in the district is not seriously considered at the State Department. Those who question Judge Love's right to preside in all the courts of the district because his commission reads "Court of Common Pleas" only forget that Sec. 92 Article V, of the Constitution provides that the Common Pleas Judge shall also be Judge of the Quarter Sessions and other courts.

Had a Limb Broken.

This morning as a sled was passing along the road near the glass works, Carrie M., the eight-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McMullin, attempted to jump on and ride. In some way her foot slipped and her leg was caught under the sled, resulting in a fracture of the bone. Surgical attendance was at once summoned and the little sufferer given the proper attention. This should be a warning to all children not to jump on moving sleds or sleighs.

Notice to Taxpayers.

All persons, whose taxes are yet unpaid, are hereby notified that if the same is not paid on or before the first day of February five per cent. of the amount will be added thereto. Also, that all taxes must be paid by the first day of April.

HUGH S. TAYLOR,

Huntingdon's Gas Plant Burned.

To-night Huntingdon will be in comparative darkness. A special to the NEWS from there states that an explosion occurred in the gas plant at that place this morning, blowing up the building and generator and the whole thing, igniting, was soon only a mass of ruins. The loss will reach $12,000, with no insurance.

An Evening in Europe.

On Monday evening, January 28th, there will be presented at the Lutheran church an illustrated lecture, "Sights and Scenes in Europe," by Mr. G. G. Burnett and wife, of San Francisco, Cal. The lecture will be illustrated by one hundred views on a screen twenty feet square from a powerful stereopticon, comprising scenes in England, Italy, and France. As the price of admission is only 25 cents, the church should be filled to its utmost capacity.

"We had the pleasure last evening of having presented at St. James' church the illustrated lecture, "Sights and Scenes in Europe," given by Mr. G. G. Burnett and his accomplished wife. For a delightful hour and a half, under Mr. Burnett's pleasing guidance, we traveled through England, France and Italy, viewing the principal cities, chief architectural edifices and scenery not in history. The selection has been made with admirable judgment and the representations on the canvass were clear and distinct. All were instructed and pleased."

Rev. J. B. Reimensnyder, D. D.,
St. James, N. Y. City.

Put Salt on Coal.

At this time of the year, when the coal begins to develop such extraordinary possibilities in the way of rapid consumption, housekeepers are eagerly on the lookout for something that will, at least prevent waste, if it cannot by any other means make a ton go further. There are several preparations for this purpose sold under fanciful names, but the basis of most of them is ordinary salt. If the latter is sprinkled liberally over the coal, either in the bin or as it is put into the furnace, it will make it burn more evenly to a clean ash and will also prevent clinkers. Of course, there is some chemical explanation for this, but the ordinary housewife does not care much about the reasons. She is satisfied that it is so.

Was Among the Killed.

Most everybody in Bellefonte will remember Mr. Thomas Hickey and family, who for a number of years lived here and was railroad foreman. About a year ago he moved to Butte, Montana, where he had a good position. In the terrible mine explosion which occurred there on Friday last, Mr. Hickey's son, Daniel W., was one of the unfortunate victims. A dispatch to this place Saturday night announced this sad fact, and also that the body will be brought to this place for burial. The family are accompanying the remains east and it is expected that they will arrive in Bellefonte to-morrow morning on the 9.32 train. The family has the sympathy of all friends.

Republican Caucuses.

North Ward—The Republicans will meet for the nomination of candidates for borough and ward officers in the Hook and Ladder house, on East Howard street, Saturday evening, January 26, at 7 o'clock.

W. I. FLEMING, Committeeman.

South Ward—The South Ward Republican caucus will be held Saturday evening January 26th, at 7 o'clock, in the Saddler Shop of James I. McClure, on Bishop street.

JAMES B. STROHM, Committeman.

West Ward—The Republicans of the West Ward will hold their caucus in the DAILY NEWS office, oppisite Bush House, Saturday evening, January 26th, at 7 o'clock.

W. T. HILLIBISH, Committeeman.

Beverly Potter Shot.

While in Houtzdale Tuesday morning Mr. Beverly Potter, of this place, met with a painful accident. He was standing chatting with a friend who held a loaded revolver in his hands. In some inexplicable way the weapon was discharged the ball from the same entering Mr. Potter's right cheek below the mouth, coursing up ward and backward and coming out just in front of the ear. No bones were broken but the wound is a painful one and incapacitates the use of the jaw in eating. It was a very narrow escape from death and is another warning to all people to let revolvers alone.

Special Notice.

To borough creditors: It is the desire of the poor department of the Borough of Bellefonte to have all persons having claims against said poor department to present them immediately for settlement. Under this call is indicated all sorts of claims, such as doctor's bills, store bills, and all forms of notes and obligations of any kind.

ISAAC MILLER,
j23-3t Overseer of Poor.

Death of an Infant.

Mary Edith, the infant daughter of Leander and Mattie Fredericks, died at 10.40 o'clock Tuesday morning of whooping cough. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock from the home of Mrs. Biddell, corner of Spring and Lamb streets.

Had Both Legs Crushed.

On Tuesday afternoon Charles H. Lucas, son of William L. Lucas, of Howard, and who was employed at the Wash Ore mine banks, met with a most serious and painful accident, which might prove fatal. He was working on the dump cars and got caught between two cars crushing both his limbs. The left limb is injured so badly that it may be neccessary to amputate it. The right one is not hurt so bad. The young man, who is aged about 22, was brought to this place and taken on the 4.50 train to his home in Howard.

A Coasting Accident.

On Tuesday night, about ten o'clock, the guider of one of the large coasters in use on Allegheny street lost control of his sled and the result was the swiftly going vehicle ran into a crowd of coasters going up hill. Young Morris Otto, who was on the run-away sled, was perhaps the most seriously injured of all, his one limb being cut open to the bone. Mr. Storm was badly hurt and probably half a dozen young men and ladies received cuts and bruises. Greater care should be taken in the use and guidance of the coaster.

Romola.

Sleighing is good and everyone seems to be enjoying it.

Mr. Wilson Boon was seriously injured last week by the explosion of a gun. It is feared he may lose his eyesight.

Some of our boys make regular trips to Howard. We wonder what the attraction is.

There will be a spelling "Bee" at Mann's school house Tuesday night.

Mr. James Fye is at present very ill with pneumonia.

Each party will hold their caucus meeting Saturday of this week.

Will be Acted on Quickly.

A statement relative to the U. S. patent office has been given out, which will be of interest to all persons who desire to get letters patent within a short time after application is made. The statement is to the effect that department is up to date with its work. This means that in all of its thirty three examining divisions the work in such a condition that a new application filed to-day will be acted upon on its merits within thirty days.

Never too Old to Learn.

Among the pupils of one of the primary schools in this city, says the Lock Haven Express, is a woman 54 years of age, who did not have the opportunities for obtaining an education in her childhood days which the boys and girls of to-day have. She is making rapid progress in her studies, and her example and determination to acquire knowledge many other people might follow. A person is "never too old to learn."

LETTER LIST

The following letters remain in the Bellefonte P. O. uncalled for Jan. 22th, 1895.

Wants No Domestic Wine.

Representative Eaton, of Potter county, has introduced a bill prohibiting the manufacture and sale of domestic wine in that county. The Democrat, of Coudersport, says that the blackberry must go. We trust that our representative will not forget to exempt "just a little around Ulysses." "God save the commonwealth.

—Representative Womelsdorf has introduced a bill in the lower house at Harrisburg asking an appropriation of $18,80 for the Cottage State Hospital, at Philipsburg.

—The remains of Daniel Hickey arrived in Bellefonte Tuesday evening and the funeral took place this morning at 9 o'clock. The deceased's mother accompanied the remains here. The explosion which caused young Hickey's death occurred on Tuesday, the 15th, and his body was not found until Friday. It is said that the exploding dynamite blew a hole in the ground full seventy-five feet deep.

—It is reported that the thrown away ends of carbons of electric lights in some eastern towns are eagerly gathered up by sufferers from rheumatism, who believe that by carrying around pieces of the carbon the pain is lessened. This is one of several remedies for diseases that may be tried without injury to patients. It costs less than a raw potato, and is probably quite as good. If it help lame thinkers and cure rheumatism of the mind it should be encouraged.
